Taft Men Wonder If They'll Get Top Positions

6 in Cabinet, 6 More Of Equal Rank Yet To Be Filled By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower's choice of three pre-convention supporters for cabinet posts left Taft Republicans wondering today if they are going to share in the new administration's top jobs.

Eisenhower has six more cabinet places to fill, plus a half dozen or more jobs of almost equal rank, and backers of Sen. Robert A. Taft will be watching the President-elect's action closely.

Taft's friends found little to cheer about when Eisenhower announced yesterday his choice of John Foster Dulles of New York for secretary of state; Charles E. Wilson of Detroit, General Motors president, for secretary of defense; and Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon for secretary of the interior.

All were early supporters of Eisenhower in his successful battle with Taft for the presidential nomination.

Dulles preserved outward neutrality until July 11—the day Eisenhower won the nomination at the Chicago convention—because the New Yorker had drafted a platform foreign policy plank to which both candidates agreed.

By the selection of Dulles, most GOP politicans believed Eisenhower had answered Democratic charges during the presidential campaign that the general had "isolationist."

While Dulles probably wouldn't have been among Taft's choices for secretary of state, the prospective cabinet member and the Ohio senator share somewhat the same views on the importance of the Far East in American policies and always have gotten along well personally.

Taft, asked to comment on the appointments, gave a curt "no comment' last night.

"Why should I be asked to comment on all appointments," he said.

Taft won a point when Eisenhower named an industrialist to head the Defense Department. But the appointee didn't come from among three men reportedly suggested by the Ohioan.

And if Eisenhower doesn't pick from the score or more of the friends Taft is reported to have submitted for some of the six cabinet jobs still open, there might develop a coolness which would not increase the favorable outlook for passage of Eisenhower's legislative proposals.

The President-elect has yet to name publicly his choices for secretaries of the Treasury, agriculture, commerce and labor, attorney general and postmaster general.

He apparently intends to make Joseph Dodge, Detroit banker, head of the Budget Bureau and reportedly wants Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts to serve him as a sort of assistant president, with rank of ambassador-at-large.

Other top jobs to be filled include those on the United Nations

Both Parties Show Approval Of Ike's Cabinet Selections

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower's first three cabinet selections, greeted with approval by Republicans and Democrats, seemed assured today of quick Senate confirmation.

The appointments which Eisenhower said yesterday he will send to Capitol Hill after his inauguration Jan. 20:

Secretary of state—John Foster Dulles, former Republican senator and one-time adviser to the State Department during Democratic administrations.

Secretary of defense—Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors.

Secretary of the interior—Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon.

While reaction was generally favorable on both sides of the aisles in Congress, there was no comment forthcoming from the White House. President Truman has been critical of both Dulles and Wilson.

During the recent election campaign, Truman said in a speech obviously beamed at Dulles that Eisenhower was being advised by "masterminds" who spread "loose talk" about freeing enslaved peoples in order to win votes.

Nearly five years ago Truman, commenting on Wilson's proposal for a 45-hour work week, said he believed the Detroit industrialist was living in the 1890s.

"No comment," was the curt reply of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio when queried by reporters in Cincinnati last night. He added: "I don't see why I should be asked to comment on all appointments."

First reaction from foreign sources on Dulles' selection was favorable.

Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo told newsmen in Washington it will be "very favorably received" in Formosa, the seat of the Chinese Nationalist regime.

In Tokyo, major newspapers splashed the announcement across their front pages, recalling that Dulles was the chief architect of the peace treaty which restored Japan's sovereignty after World War II. While the papers were warm in their endorsement, official government comment was withheld although leaders were described as pleased.

Wilson's appointment was hailed by Republican Senators Homer Ferguson of Michigan and Karl Mundt of South Dakota. Ferguson said he believes Wilson will do "an outstanding job." Mundt said the Defense Department needs Wilson's "type of business genius."

Sen John Sparkman of Alabama, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, commented that Wilson is "one of our great industrial leaders," adding: "I know nothing to stand in the way of his confirmation."

"I know Mr. Dulles and I admire him greatly—he is a very able man," Sparkman said.

Sen. Joseph McCarthy, one of the chief critics of Secretary of State Acheson, told reporters he likes Dulles, adding: "I think he's a good American.

Asserting that Dulles has "the most difficult job in the cabinet," McCarthy said: "If he does a good

Talk On Cabinet Seen As He Calls In Four Senators

Dulles, Wilson And Gov. McKay Named To Republican Cabinet

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower called in four Republican senators today—possibly for discussions about his cabinet—and appeared to be hastening his plans to leave for Korea.

He announced three cabinet appointments yesterday, two of them for offices that deal directly with the Korean problem.

They were John Foster Dulles, veteran foreign policy adviser, for secretary of state, and Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors, for secretary of defense.

Oregon's Gov. Douglas McKay was named for secretary of the interior.

At the same time, Eisenhower's office and the Department of Defense announced there will be no news reports about his Korean trip while he is outside the United States—and only one news writer will go with him.

His press secretary, James C. Hagerty, told correspondents here yesterday that three news media representatives will be taken on the trip, a correspondent, a "still" photographer, and a newsreel cameraman.

Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett announced earlier that "no news reports of the President-designate's activities will be cleared through the Korean Theater of Operations until after the

India Peace Plan Changes Near OK

8 Of Western Allies Plan To Discuss Them

BULLETIN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States and seven other countries were reliably reported today to have decided to accept India's compromise plan for settling the Korean prisoner-of-war deadlock, subject to two changes.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Western Allies moved closer to agreement today on changes they hoped would bring full support—including that of the U. S.—behind India's compromise plan for ending the Korean War prisoner deadlock.

An eight-nation group headed by the U. S., Britain and France planned to meet behind closed doors in the U. N. this morning to work over amendments to a plan submitted Wednesday by India's V. K. Krishna Menon. Other nations in the group are Canada, Australia, Turkey, Denmark and Colombia.

They have as a working basis changes suggested yesterday by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who said the Indian plan brings the U. N. nearer to agreement on the one outstanding issue holding up an armistice in Korea—the prisoner of war problem.

Strong American objections to the original Indian resolution—that it was ambiguous and would not work—had threatened a serious split among the 21 allies backing a U. S.—drafted Korean resolution which the Soviet bloc in the U. N. already has rejected.

The Americans reportedly insist that Menon's resolution be clarified before they can accept it. The resolution calls for a four-nation commission, with an umpire to settle deadlocks, to handle the repatriation of all war prisoners and take care of those who don't want to return to Red-ruled homes until a political conference decides their fate.

The U. S. reservations apparently have been ironed out to some degree in private talks among the Allies.

Dulles May Set Up Council To Run Cold War Offensive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Creation of a super council in the Eisenhower administration to mastermind a Kremlin seemed assured today by the announcement that John Foster Dulles will be the next secretary of state.

Dulles, like President-elect Eisenhower who announced his selection for the post yesterday, has made clear that his first major new goal in foreign policy will be to wrest the initiative in the global conflict from Russia.

Dulles has declared that one way to go about this is to set up a cabinet council, including not only some regular cabinet members but also "ministers without portfolio" charged only with high-level cold war planning.

Word that the veteran diplomat, recently a Truman ambassador in the negotiation of the Japanese Peace Treaty, would get the number one cabinet post next Jan. 20 was generally well received by State Department officials here despite some bitterness toward him resulting from his attacks on Truman foreign policies during the presidential campaign.

Unless he goes to Korea with Eisenhower soon — which Dulles has indicated he will not do—these officials expect he will shortly open an office near that of Secretary of State Acheson.

They believe Dulles will readily accommodate himself to the work of the department and that because of his experience in the field the transfer of control will be smoother than it would have been with almost any other successor.

There is hope here that Dulles will be able to advise informally on and observe decisions which must be made by the present administration in the next two months. Such aid could assist in keeping decisions in line with the aims of the new administration.

Truman administration officials have urged closest possible liaison between incoming and outgoing officials, for this and other reasons.

Dulles is unlike any other man Eisenhower might have named. Not only a veteran of 45 years of work in the foreign field—he was secretary of an international conference when his grandfather was secretary of state in 1907—he has also played an important part in the development of national policies during recent years.

Once a U. S. Senator and a close associate of the late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg and of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Dulles had a hand in the formation of the United Nations, and in obtaining bi-partisan backing for it.

He has served on many missions abroad, apart from the U. N. He was one of those who helped to put across the Marshall Plan for European recovery and to shape the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Police Arrest Moceri, Slayer For Gangland

LOS ANGELES (AP)—With dead-pan mobster Leonard C. Moceri accidentally in custody, police today sought answers to unsolved gangland executions dating from liquor bootlegging days to the modern Mafia.

"The nation's most wanted triggerman" was the tab given 45-year-old Leonard the Lip by Capt. J. E. Hamilton of the Los Angeles police intelligence unit.

He'd given officers the slip 20 years since indictment on four mob killings in Toledo, O., datiing from 1931 to 1933. Officers think there might be some recent chapters such as the Bugsy Siegel murder, the killing of Mickey Cohen's attorney Sammy Rummel and the double slaying of Tony Brancato and Tony Trombino in Hollywood a couple years back.

Detroit police also want to ask some questions concerning the demise of hoodlum Jack George whose body was found stuffed in an automobile trunk.

Right now police here seek Moceri's ballet dancing wife, Margaret, who dropped from sight coincident with her hubby's arrest.

Backtracking to the Moceri apartment in Hollywood, where rent has been paid since May under one of many aliases, detectives found coffee boiling, ice cream melting, but no Margaret.

Allies Halt Reds On Sniper Ridge

No Ground Lost Along Entire Battle Front

SEOUL (AP) — Allied infantrymen smashed a fanatical Chinese assault today on Sniper Ridge — on the Central Korean Front — and stopped lesser attacks elsewhere on the battle line.

A U. S. Eighth Army spokesman told correspondents: "No ground was lost."

He said an estimated 750 Chinese stormed the frozen, forbidding slopes of Sniper Ridge but were killed, wounded or driven back by stubborn South Korean troops who have lost and retaken the height 16 times in 38 days.

Some of the fighting was hand-to-hand.

A Red battalion slammed against Pinpoint Hill, the dominating ground of Sniper Ridge last night. The Communists supported their assaults with a tremendous barrage of mortar and artillery.

Within an hour, one company of Chinese pulled out and left two companies to push ahead. But by 10 p.m. the drive was blunted.

The Allied spokesman said four Communist armored vehicles, probably tanks, rained 50 caliber machine gun fire on ROK positions on Sniper just before midnight.

Allied artillery drove off the vehicles.

It was cold — 10 degrees above zero.

Both sides kept up a crackling exchange of gunfire, and early this morning a suicide platoon of Chinese charged Sniper Ridge, hurling hand grenades when they got near the ROK foxholes. But the South Koreans held their ground and shortly afetr dawn the Chinese pulled out.

Eighth Army headquarters reported a series of Communist attacks all along the 155-mile battle

Wilson To Go To Korea With Eisenhower

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors' Charles E. Wilson, newly chosen secretary of defense for President-elect Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's cabinet, will go with the general to Korea, according to a report published here today.

The Detroit Times, quoting "executives close to Wilson," said the GM president, named to the cabinet job Thursday, will make the trip with Eisenhower.

General Motors neither confirmed nor denied the report.

An official spokesman at the corporation headquarters said Wilson commented only that: "I can't answer that question."

"He's going to Korea with Ike," the Times quoted GM executives as saying.

The newspaper credited its information to "authoritative sources" and further quoted Wilson as saying "I cannot answer that question for obvious reasons."

Civic Committee Asks For Levy Resubmission

The Salem Civic Committee went on record last night urging City Council to resubmit the 2.8-mill levy at a special election.

The levy, defeated at the polls Nov. 4, would have provided funds for increasing wages of municipal employes. Council is considering the special election.

Next meeting of the Civic Committee will be Dec. 18. Vice President Ralph Mancuso presided last night at the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the absence of Hobart Butcher.

Sen. Kefauver Would've Done Better—Hays

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Hays (D-Ohio) said today Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) would have run a "substantially stronger' race than Gov. Adlai Stevenson, had he been the Democratic presidential nominee.

Hays, who supported the Tennessean at the Democratic national convention last July, told a reporter Kefauver would have carried a number of states that Stevenson failed to take from Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican who defeated him.

The Ohioan listed Tennessee, Florida, "probably" Pennsylvania and "certainly" California as some of these. He also said Kefauver would have had a chance to carry Ohio.

He predicted Kefauver will be a contender for the nomination again in 1956. Hays said the crime-investigating senator's name has become a houshold word and "he's not going to sit back and let the people forget it."

Hays made no direct comment on Gov. Stevenson's continuing as head of the party during the coming four years.

The Ohioan said the Democrats probably will recapture the House in 1954 and added that they have a "fair chance" to regain control of the Senate, too.

Ex-Czech Red Admits Treason

Geminder One Of 14 On Trial In Prague

VIENNA (AP)—Bedrich Geminder, second of 14 former top Czech Communists charged with treason in Prague's successor to the Moscow purge trials, today admitted conspiring to overthrow the present Communist government.

Geminder followed Rudolph Slansky, former Communist party boss and vice-premier, to the "confession" stand this morning, radio Prague said at mid-day.

Geminder was formerly leader of the international department of the Czech party's central committee, often described as the "grey eminence" or secret power behind the party, he disappeared from his post in 1950, when he apparently was arrested.

The Prague radio said German-born Geminder had admitted working with Slansky to overthrow the government of President Klement Gottwald and with conspiring to "re-establish capitalism."

The broadcast said he also had confessed he was a "Zionist and cosmopolitan"—a Communist term meaning he was more sympathetic to Israel than to Moscow.

Geminder, the broadcast said, admitted he also was the link between Slansky and Konni Zilliacus, British Laborite ex - member of Parliament. Slansky asserted Thursday the Britisher was the link between all the "Titoist" elements behind the Iron Curtain. In London, Zilliacus termed the statement "quite fantastic" and said he had met Slansky only once, in 1947.

Geminder once was considered the Kremlin's chief spokesman in Prague. He was one of the secretaries of Georgi Dimitrov, executive secretary of the Cominform when it was founded in 1947. He became Slansky's chief assistant.

Wilson Faces Tough Task As GOP Secretary Of Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles Erwin Wilson's comment about giving the defense secretary job the "darndest whirl it ever had" can work both ways.

The job has given four men a whirl in the last four years.

Wilson was named yesterday as President-elect Eisenhower's selection as the next secretary of defense. That the president of General Motors faces a tough assignment is shown by the fact that:

The first secretary resigned and, broken by the immense burden of his job, committed suicide.

The second one was fired.

The third one, a soldier by professiion, dutifully served out his assignment for a year, then resigned.

The present one let it be known some months ago, before he knew the election would bring a change in administration, that he intended to leave government. He now says he is more anxious than ever, as he puts it, to go back as rapidly as possible to what he hopes will be moderately prosperous obscurity.

Even the gigantic General Motors Corp. which Wilson heads and which, at Eisenhower's request he is leaving to come to Washington, is dwarfed by the proportions of the business he will manage as defense chief.

There is a noteworthy aspect to Wilson's job change: A much bigger job produces a much smaller pay check. The general impression is that his 1951 salary and bonuses totaled about $626,300. He'll get $22,500 from the federal government—and no bonus.

Of all the executive agencies of government, the Defense Department is the largest, the costliest, the most complex, the most technical. Its responsibilities can be grave. Decisions made by a defense secretary can be important in how a battle is fought and how men die.

The number of persons who work under the Defense Department and its armed forces approaches the five-million mark—3,600,000 of whom are in the armed forces, the others civilian employes in the farflung enterprises of the military establishment. General Motors has a big work force, but nowhere near that large.

General Motors is really big business. In defense contracts alone, not counting the income from commercial sales, it has been doing business in the multi-millions since the start of the Korean War. But the Defense Department spending budget runs about 60 billion dollars a year.

First man appointed to the job after unification of the Army, Navy and Air Force and creation of the Defense Department in 1948 was James Forrestal, investment banker. He worked at a tremendous task of organizing the department, trying to settle long-existing rivalries and quarrels among the armed forces and getting the national defenses into shape at a time when national sentiment was cool toward military matters. He got things going but, broken by the burden, left his job and then took his life.

Louis Johnson was named to succeed him. Johnson came into office at a time when the trend was to economy. Actions he took to cut back on military spending in line with economy mandates came in for criticism from congressional quarters and elsewhere. The Korean War burst upon the world. The criticism, by then involving charges the military wasn't ready, sharpened. President Truman ousted him.

Truman turned to a man he had long admired and appointed to previous high jobs, including that of secretary of state. He chose five-star Gen. George C. Marshall. A special exception was made by Congress to a law which would have barred appointment of a military man to the civilian job of defense secretary. Marshall came back from brief retirement and took the job. He left much detail of administration to his deputies, kept for himself the task of overseeing the whole broad operation of the Defense Department and of making basic policy decisions.

Robert A. Lovett, present secretary, is Texas-born but transplanted to New York. Like Forrestal, he is an investment banker. He works hard at his job but, unlike Forrestal, doesn't worry about it. A sense of humor, sometimes sardonic, saves him. He has been in government work, with only a short break, since early in World War II.

McKay Follows Ike's Domestic Views Exactly

SALEM, Or. (AP)—The appointment of Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon to the cabinet will give President-elect Eisenhower a man who appears to reflect Eisenhower's domestic views almost exactly.

In the past, the next secretary of the interior has:

Favored state ownership of oil tidelands.

Favored statehood for Alaska and Hawaii.

Opposed a Columbia Valley Authority, but favored big federal power projects, provided the state has a voice in operation of the projects.

Once his appointment was announced, McKay refused to discuss these or any other policies. He said he would confer first with Gen. Eisenhower.

There were a few cries of "reactionary" when the appointment was announced yesterday, but generally among public office-holders and newspapers of the West comment appeared favorable towards the 59-year-old McKay.

Among Republicans of Oregon he is generally considered a moderate—and his stand on public power is cited as an example. He has made his position clear in repeated speeches over the four years he has been governor.

The McKay stand is that private utilities should be given first chance to develop water resources. When the job is too big for private investors, the federal government should take over—but not have full say on how to develop or run the projects. The state also should have a hand in running things. McKay calls it federal-state co-operation.

On that basis he opposed a Columbia Valley Authority. So did the general.

Niagara Falls May Get Face-Lifting

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — A joint U. S.-Canadian commission proposes to give Niagara Falls a face-lifting. It wants the famous waterfall to look more beautiful with less water.

Details of the project were disclosed yesterday to Canadian and U. S. parks and power officials by the International Joint Commission. The plans will be submitted to the two governments. If approved quickly, work could be started early next year and completed in 1956.

The commission's plans, developed after two years study by engineers, call for a control dam 1,550 feet long built from the Canadian side a mile above the falls. They also propose dredging the Niagara River bottom just above the brink of the horseshoe falls.

The commission claims the project would reduce the present speed with which the river is eating away the brink of the falls and would make possible two vantage points on each tip of the horseshoe from which an unobstructed view of the falls could be obtained. No estimate of the cost was announced.

Eisenhower Won't Legally Be President-Elect Until Jan: 6

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Elmer Davis, the radio commentator, wrote the New York Times the other day to say, with tongue in cheek, that it had erred when it put this headline on an editorial:

"We have a president-elect."

"We have nothing of the sort," Davis said. He's right, of course. Dwight D. Eisenhower hasn't received a single vote for the presidency, even though he is so near the White House he has named three men to be cabinet officers.

The electors, picked in the voting on Nov. 4, meet in their state capitals on Dec. 15 and vote for a president. Their decision becomes official when their votes are counted by Congress on Jan. 6. Not until then is Eisenhower legally the president-elect.

Probably no other part of our federal government has come in for more criticism than the electoral college.

Supreme Court Justice Jackson, with Justice Douglas agreeing, has said it is "mystifying and distorting." Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts has called it a "relic of the past." The words "antiquated" and "useless' have been hurled at it again and again.

Yet for 150 years it has successfully withstood all assaults.

Two years ago it looked as if it might topple. Lodge, a Republican, and Rep. Ed Gossett, a Texas Democrat, introduced a proposed constitutional amendment to change the system.

Under the proposed amendment, the use of electors would be done away with. And, instead of all the state's electoral votes going to the candidate who carries the state, the electoral vote would be split in the same proportion as the popular vote.

The amendment passed the Senate, 64 to 23 (it needed a two-thirds majority). But opposition developed in both parties and it came a cropper in the House, with 134 votes for and 210 against.

Even had the House supported it by a two-thirds majority, the proposal still would have had to be accepted by three-fourths of the states before it became a part of our Constitution.

The electoral college is a reminder that the founding fathers set up a representative form of government. We make our laws through our representatives and senators. And, originally, the voters picked the men who were to pick our presidents.

As the political parties grew, the electors became little more than rubber stamps.

Why hasn't the electoral college been abandoned in favor of a direct vote for the president?

The most obvious answer is that it requires a change in the Constitution, and this nation always has been slow to make changes there.

Legion Women Arrange Meeting

Auxiliary To Pack Gifts On Dec. 3

COLUMBIANA — Firestone American Legion Post Auxiliary, at its November meeting Wednesday evening, decided to have an all-day meeting Wednesday, Dec. 3, with covered dish dinner at noon, to pack Christmas contributions for Brecksville Hospital and the auxiliary's adopted ward in Dayton Hospital.

Fire Chief Harvey Hisey gave a demonstration of a Scott air pack, added to the fire department equipment by the auxiliary with part of the proceeds of its magazine campaign.

Reports on the Girl Scout work sponsored by the auxiliary were heard from Mrs. George Williamson, leader of Troop 1, and Mrs. Lawrence Davis, leader of Brownie Troop 2.

Mrs. Winifred Martin, who will be moving to Alloy, W. Va., the first of the year, resigned as treasurer, and Mrs. Thelma McNab was elected to fill the vacancy. Mrs. Martin's husband, J. J. Martin, has been manager of the vanadium plant here a number of years, and will continue with the company at its new location.

The birthday of the auxiliary president, Mrs. Robert Patchen, was honored.

"WORLD POLITICS — What Chance Has the Western World Against Communism?" was the subject of discussion at the November meeting of the Sorosis Club Wednesday evening in the public library.

The discussion was led by Mrs. Virginia Felger and participated in by Mrs. Paul Reeves, Mrs. Stewart Brown, Mrs. Clarence Shontz, Mrs. Ralph Hum and Mrs. Ralph Lower.

Mrs. Roy Bilger presided over the business meeting preceding the program. A committee elected to prepare the programs for 1953 consists of Mrs. Hattie Stahl, Mrs. E. T. Coyle and Miss Nell Koch. The annual Christmas party will be held Wednesday evening, Dec. 17.

A PREVIEW of the Inter-County Basketball League of six teams in Columbiana, Mahoning and Trumbull counties will be held in Columbiana High School gym at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow, when the six teams will be paired in three 12-minute games, Columbiana and Canfield, McDonald and Lowellville, and North Lima and Springfield Township. Preceding the games, there will be a demonstration of rules.

New cement sidewalks are being laid around the premises of the new Manos theater at the north west corner of the public square.

The junior class of Columbiana High School will present its play, "The Whole Town's Talking," in the High School auditorium at 8 tonight.

Members of the Kindergarten Mothers Club, at the November meeting in the High School Wednesday evening, cut out aprons and bean bags and arranged for the Christmas party for the children, which is set for Friday, Dec. 19.

BLOODMOBILE SCHEDULED

LISBON—Mrs. Wayne Calhoun of Lisbon, county Red Cross Blood Bank chairman, announces the Pittsburgh Bloodmobile will make its third visit of the year to Lisbon Dec. 19. The unit will again be stationed at the American Legion home on W. Lincoln Way.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

The Doctor Answers

New developments are constantly occurring which raise important health problems.

Q—Can you tell me anything about the effects of lindane gas on human beings? There are devices now on the market designed for year-'round use in the home for killing flies, moths and other insects, using this gas. The claim is that the gas is harmless, but I should like information on this.

A—This subject has been studied and reported on by the Committee on Pesticides of the American Medical Association. In summary of the rather lengthy reports of that committee it can be stated that there have been few reports of human poisoning from the use of lindane gas (technical benzene hexachloride).

In other words, the gas can be considered as relatively harmless to human beings, but not completely so if the concentration in the air breathed in is high enough.

With regard to the use in the home of electric dispensers of this gas, it has been considered important by the Insecticide Division of the United States Department of Agriculture and other agencies that they should include protective devices which will control the amount of gas or other insecticide liberated into the air in order to avoid too high a concentration.

Q—I have been criticized for giving my children skimmed milk to drink, though both are overweight. Are they not receiving the same nourishment without the butterfat they would if they received whole milk?

A—You are correct that skimmed milk contains the same ingredients as whole milk except for butterfat and vitamin A. In all probability, the children receive enough vitamin A in some other form, however, so that if they are overweight, giving them skimmed milk would cause no harm.

Q—I am 30 years old and have three small children. Is there anything I could take to keep me from feeling so tired all the time?

A—The chances are that the children and your other work are what is making you tired. There is no pill that can guarantee a lack of fatigue, but if you feel that the tired feeling cannot be accounted for by strenuous children and your other activities, you should have a checkup by your physician. This is to be sure you do not have something physically wrong, such as anemia or some chronic infection.

Q—Can you tell me anything about Milroy's disease?

A—This is a hereditary disease which is characterized by an edema or watery swelling of the limbs. As implied by its hereditary nature, it runs in families, cannot be effectively treated, but is comparatively harmless.

Alimony Case Goes To Supreme Court

LISBON—At a hearing in common pleas court, Judge Joel H. Sharp delayed a ruling on an alimony and support petition bearing outsome of a case pending before the UKNITED State Supreme Court involving the same parties.

Mrs. Leona Anderson May filed a suit in Common Pleas Court to seek alimony from her former husband, Owen Anderson of Waukeska, Wis., and support for their children. She is seeking alimony from the time of her separation in 1946 until she remarried Feb. 7, 1948.

Anderson was granted a divorce from his wife in Wisconsin, Feb. 5, 1947, and was granted exclusive custody of the children and his wife was not granted any alimony.

The matter was carried to the Supreme Court by Mrs. May in the issue of whether by virtue of a certain Wisconsin decree the defendant obtained a legal right to possession of children superior to plaintiff's rights.

The children are now with Mrs. May because of a habeas corpus action.

BABY DIES IN WRECK

CLEVELAND (AP)—Gerald Rybak, 2-month-old baby, was injured fatally Thursday night in a two-car automobile collision. The child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rybak.

Ohio Educators Oppose Salary Boost Methods

CHARDON, O. (AP) — Educators from six Northeastern Ohio counties expressed opposition Thursday night to a state income tax or a one-cent sales tax boost as a means of increasing teacher salaries.

Close to 100 superintendents, principals and teachers from Cuyahoga, Summit, Geauga, Lake, Mahoning and Trumbull met in a session sponsored by the Legal Planning Committee of the Ohio Education Association.

The group said it believed the Legislature should provide money from other sources for boosting teacher pay. Minimum salary schedules and increased school foundation payments for grade and high schools were recommended.

Dr. Stopes Urges Girls To Wed Early

LONDON (AP) — Girls should be permitted to marry at 15 if they are biologically ready, Dr. Marie Stopes, famed writer on marital problems, has suggested to a royal commission on marriage and divorce.

However, she said yesterday, she would not encourage such early marriages, she just thinks they should be legally possible.

"The present age limit of 16 is too high and ignores the biological tendency to marriage," Dr. Stopes said in a memorandum.

The expert, who is 72, said one-third or one qarter of Britain's girls are ready for marriage at 15.

"I've discovered that, biologically, British women are three main types: those who are fully mature and ready for childbearing at 15 or 16; the larger number—the average type—ready for marriage about 18 to 21, and those who can be married but who are not sexually mature until the age 27 to 30.

"Many of our grandmothers were happy brides at the age of 16 and even 15. When women are biologically capable of bearing a child, they should be legally capable of marrying."

28 County Men Face Army Induction Dec. 3

LISBON — Columbiana County Draft Board 16 at Lisbon announced 28 men are scheduled for induction into the armed services Dec. 3. Another 36 will receive pre-induction examinations Dec. 9. The county sent 13 men for induction this month.

C. Of C. Head Says Ike To Aid Business

CINCINNATI (AP) — Laurence F. Lee, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, said today business can expect friendlier treatment from President-elect Eisenhower's administration than it got from the Democrats.

"The outgoing administration chose business as a political whipping boy—and the whole economy has suffered as a result," Lee said. "For the time being, that era is over."

Lee warned, however, against looking on the Republican election triumph as a victory for business.

"On balance, it appears to me that no economic group can claim a victory," he said, "and that is as it should be."

Lee's speech was prepared for delivery at a meeting of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce.

Dulles, Wilson and McKay

The surprise in Dwight Eisenhower's first three cabinet appointments is Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense.

The president of General Motors—not to be confused with the other Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Electric—never has held a public job.

As the executive chief of one of the nation's key industrial organizations, Wilson knows the problems of both a war-geared and peace-geared economy inside out.

It would be impossible to find a man with more visible qualifications for the cabinet post which must correlate the needs of the military and the potentialities of private enterprise. It is apparent from Mr. Wilson's caliber that the function of the Office of Defense Mobilization, vacant since the other Charles E. Wilson resigned last summer, is going to be performed after next January by a cabinet officer.

The choice of John Foster Dulles as secretary of state had been taken for granted. It was going to be either Mr. Dulles or Thomas E. Dewey. When Gov. Dewey turned down the post, to finish his term as governor of New York, that left Mr. Dulles.

As author of the Japanese peace treaty, the one document of the postwar years that may withstand the test of time, Mr. Dulles already has staked out a claim on international prestige. His lifelong interest in foreign affairs, his experience in the U. S. Senate and the confidence he commands in the United States will make him a strong secretary of state—the strongest individual to hold the post since Henry L. Stimson held it under Herbert Hoover.

Douglas McKay, governor of Oregon, is unknown in the eastern part of the United States. His appointment to head the Department of Interior is presumably in recognition of far-western interest in reclamation.

A New York State crime commission has started where the Senate crime committee formerly headed by Sen. Kefauver left off in 1951. Its hearings, though still in the preliminary stage, have revealed the Siamese-twin relationship between the underworld and the Democratic party in New York City. They were not merely in contact; they were one and the same thing.

The way is finally clear to go the whole distance with an investigation of this incredible relationship. New York does not have to be lined up for the Democratic party in a forthcoming presidential election. Tammany Hall has no immediate value to Washington.

While the crime commission is just as interested in Republican crime as Democratic crime, its principal inquiry will be in New York City, most vital stronghold among the cities whose machine votes were the secret of the Democratic party's long tenure in power.

There is nothing to lose now. Kefauver has been punished for suggesting how much was at stake; the bosses and the hoodlums never forgave him. The Democratic party is out of power at long last and may even stand to gain something from an investigation which will give it a chance to "reform."

A Positive South

Most of the post-election talk about a two-party South is hot air. The mere fact that Florida, Tennessee, Virginia and Texas gave Eisenhower their electoral votes and that several more southern states were almost equally sore about Trumanism does not set up a southern branch of the Republican party.

There is one thing which could be done at this time to give the one-party South a chance to forget the bitterness of the Civil War. A change in the electoral-vote system which would reflect minority sentiment in southern states dominated by Democrats could give southern Republicanism something to grow on.

It would furnish incentive to build an opposition to the dominant Democrats. It would give the Republican party a reason to be attentive to southern needs and the Democratic party a reason to quit taking the South for granted.

A reform of the electoral-vote system must be regarded as unlikely. It would interfere with the arrangement whereby politicians try to outwit voters by mastering technicalities of politics which few voters can understand.

The electoral vote has been one of the politicians' favorite technicalities. Any change which would make it reflect the will of the people more accurately would be to the disadvantage of politicans. But if there is going to be a two-party system in the South, the minority party must have a reason to exist.

A chance to help elect a Republican president would furnish part of a reason. It would give a southern Republican the privilege of being positive about politics, instead of chronically negative.

Golf rules say a player can't change his lie. When you reveal your score, stick to it!

Forgotten Lesson

By DAVID LAWRENCE

British Isolationism Blocks Korea Settlement

During the recent presidential campaign, when it was announced that Gen. Eisenhower would visit Korea, the spokesmen for the Democratic party declared that the answer to the problem in the Far East was not to be found in Korea but in Moscow. It is beginning to appear that the answer may also be found in London and Washington.

The realistic truth is that the allies are divided. They do not see eye to eye on the Far Eastern problem. Russia knows this and is alert enough to take advantage of the dissension among the countries supposedly allied in Korea.

The big question before the world is whether British isolationism, such as arose under Prime Minister Baldwin, and unwittingly helped to bring on World War II, will once more contribute factors that can leave the allies helpless in the face of World War III.

It is just 17 years ago this month that Great Britain voted in the last election held there before the outbreak of World War II when the Conservative party won with a majority of about 250 seats in the House of Commons and Stanley Baldwin became prime minister.

It so happens that a few days ago a reviewer in the "London Times," discussing a recently published biography of Stanley Baldwin, written by G. M. Young, gives a significant analysis of what was happening in those prewar years. He refers to a parallel in what is happening today.

The "London Times" reviewer says in part:

" 'War is a dreadful thing. 'Here was the mainspring of Mr. Baldwin's—and the people's and the parties' — reluctance in those years. It was condemned by Mr. Churchill in 1932, when Mr. Baldwin had forecast that the next war would wipe out European civilization, as 'fatalism and helplessness.'

"Mr. Baldwin was too much the mirror of his countrymen; no doubt in this case, an indictment can be drawn against a nation. Yet, in the end, the responsibility was his, not theirs. In that election 17 years ago he was given his majority and his chance, and history can judge the default. It is a default that has a lasting lesson —as Mr. Baldwin himself knew— for all leaders of democracies.

"It is perilous indeed to make the 'guilty men' of the thirties scapegoats for defects in the nation which, with the shock of war passed, have by no means gone.

"More than once since the war, in the life - and - death matters of national economics, has something very like the scenes of the thirties been re - enacted — the resolve reluctantly taken by ministers to press on with hard and harsh measures to regain national solvency and then that resolve weakened and dissipated by distaste of unpopularity and public complaint. The warning is for today."

No better description of the wavering policies of Great Britain today could be written. It will be asked why, with Prime Minister Churchill at the helm, the British are shrinking from the tasks of collective security.

The answer is that the Labor party has almost equal strength in Great Britain with the Conservatives. The majority held by Mr. Churchill is narrow, while inside the Labor party is a pacifist and strongly isolationist group led by Aneurin Bevan which is also anti - American.

Sensing the divisions and dissensions inside Great Britain, Stalin has sent Gromyko, one of his ablest hatchet men, to London as ambassador.

The British themselves are not alert to the danger because today they speak of the far - off Korean War in very much the same terms as they used to talk about Czechoslovakia. The mere announcement that Gen. Eisenhower would go to Korea brought caustic comments from the British Press — undoubtedly a reflection of how some of the leaders in Great Britain feel today.

They are apprehensive lest American money and manpower be used in the Far East which they think should be used in Europe. Yet they fail to realize that the Korean problem is not related to any single area, but is global in nature.

Perhaps the most discouraging phase of the matter is the assumption that the Korean War can be won only by putting more allied manpower into it, or by fighting on an "all-out basis." The British who usually have been ingenious in world diplomacy, are singularly unable today to see that the most important weapon that is needed in order to win the Korean War is a united front among the allies, and to make those countermoves which are necessary in order to win the cold war.

This means a stricter economic blockade of Russia and her satellites, a stepped - up psychological-warfare program, and pressure upon Communist China through a naval inspection system which will prevent supplies from reaching the Chinese mainland through any merchant ships irrespective of nationality.

In addition the British have never yielded on the subject of allowing Chiang Kai - shek and his Chinese Nationalists to fight their way back to power in China. While nobody in Washington feels that any American troops should be used on the mainland of China, there is a growing feeling here that, if the Chinese Nationalists want to fight to regain their liberties, the United States Navy should not be interposed between Formosa and China to prevent them from doing so.

There are many moves that can be made to bring about a successful ending of the Korean War, but not one of them can be successful if pacifism or the Stanley Baldwin type of reluctance dominates British councils.

The British have a habit of condemning American isolationism, little realizing that British isolationism may be at the bottom of most of the difficulties in the world today. Clearly, a meeting between Prime Minister Churchill and Gen. Eisenhower after the latter has visited Korea would be a milestone on the road to British-American solidarity in world policy.

Praises Fire Chief

The News: As a property owner and citizen of Salem interested in the betterment of our city, I resent the attack on our fire chief as printed in the Salem News Nov. 19.

Council stated that it approved the results but not the methods that the Chief used in ridding our city of fire traps. May I ask just what was expected of him. Since when isn't a registered letter sufficient notice? It is used in most all other cases of giving notice of action forthcoming.

It seems to me that the defendant had sufficient time and notice to make any repairs that were needed, if she intended doing them.

Let's give a man of action and a man of results a pat on the back and be thankful that we have such a man as our fire chief. After all isn't what we want results. He has done much for our city since taking the job. Lets show him that we appreciate it.

Poor Sports, She Says

The News: Have followed the write ups closely on the Salem-Lisbon game; both before and afterwards, and I have yet to see where throwing cabbage in the bleachers, fire crackers everywhere, pulling Blue Devil scarves off Lisbon girls heads is good sportsmanship.

Salem created so much noise that we who paid $1.10 for tickets, the highest this year, were unable to hear the announcer. We were supposed to get lineup sheets for the game, but there were only three close around us in the bleachers. I've followed our Lisbon team for five years and I've yet to see anything like the sportsmanship displayed at this game—you surely do not have anything to be proud of.

Never in Columbiana County have I seen anything that could even be compared to it. Your fans came down here and had to be run out of town by police on account of their conduct. What were they doing to make that necessary?

Might make a couple suggestions, better give your time clock a thorough oiling, so it doesn't have a tendency to stick, and keep a careful check on the team's "times out.' We lost by points, but the big Salem boys sure were outplayed by Lisbon team. This was really the worst sportsmanship shown I have ever seen. You are the worst "losers" I have ever known of, too.

Remember, Don't Let Them Take It Away

By BENJAMIN F. FAIRLESS

This article, condensed from a recent address by the chairman of the board and president of U. S. Steel Corp., reflects the thinking of private enterprise about exorbitant taxes and raises this question: What would happen to taxes if all of them were forced into the open so citizens could judge their merit?

The only reason why people work on this earth is to gain a reward for their labor.

If they work for other people, that reward is called a wage or salary. If they set up a business of their own and work for themselves, their reward—when they get it—is called a profit.

Just as wages are the source of all work, so profits are the source of all business enterprise.

Without the hope of profit, no business would ever be established; without the realization of profit no business can continue to live; and without an adequate profit, no business is able to grow.

Since the end of World War II, more than half of all the profits which American industry has earned have been plowed back into the business to support its growth. Growth is as essential to enterprise as it is to humans — particularly in infancy. That is why the mortality rate among new businesses is so enormous.

Most of these establishments die in the early year of their lives, because they have not been able to earn the profit they needed to grow on.

Profits are the food which supports the life and growth of our business population, just as wages provide the food which nourishes our human population. And if too much of that economic food is taxed away, those populations will sicken and wither from malnutrition.

The government levies a normal tax of 30 per cent on our very smallest businesses — on establishments with taxable incomes up to $25,000. On businesses with larger earning it levies a surtax which brings the rate up to 52 per cent. Then, under present, it also imposes a so-called "excess profits tax" of 82 per cent on business growth.

If a business grows—if it increases its efficiency, its production and its service to the nation—the government says: "That's just too bad. It'll cost you a penalty of 82 per cent."

If a business does not grow—if its earnings are just what they averaged several years ago—it still must pay the government that 82 per cent penalty on one-sixth of its normal, peacetime profits.

The excess profits tax is a destructive tax, dishonestly named. It is not, as its name implies, a tax upon excessive profits. It is an excessive tax upon normal profits, on business efficiency, on industrial growth and on public service.

Under our present fiscal policies, business has been able to survive and grow only where it has managed to pass the burden of ruinous taxes along to its consumers. The extent to which it can do this depends upon its ability to meet its competition price-wise in the market place.

The time has come when government must face up to the fact that its so-called corporation tax is nothing more nor less than a hidden sales tax which is concealed in the price of everything we buy and which is merely collected by the corporation from its customers and passed along to the government, instead of being paid directly by the customer to the government.

Bread is the staff of life, but hidden within the wrapper are 151 separate and distinct taxes on every loaf. More than one third of the price we pay consists of taxes which go to federal, state and local governments.

Milk is our most essential food in millions of homes. But about 40 per cent of the price of every bottle of it goes to nourish some government agency.

One third of the cost of every pound of beef is taxes.

When we buy a ton of coal, the price we pay for the coal itself is smaller than the sum total of the taxes hidden in it.

To build a house, you must pay 475 different taxes on the materials and the construction costs that go into it.

There are 116 taxes on a man's suit.

There are 150 on a lady's hat, and 65 of those are federal taxes.

When you buy a $2,000 automobile, you are paying $1,375 for the car, and the other $625 is taxes.

Suppose the sales ticket had read: "Price, $1,375; Tax 45 per cent; Total $2,000. At whom would the buyer then get sore? Would he favor a bigger more expensive government?

Here we have the real reason why so many of our politically-minded economists denounced a direct sales tax and demand still higher levies on our corporations. Only in this way can they place on business the blame for enormous taxes which are, of course, the sole responsibility of government.

That is why these taxes must be kept hidden. That is why no American family must ever be permitted to know the exact amount of the tax it pays. The size of that tax is the most precious top secret in Washington today, and it has been guarded, I regret to say, with more success than the secret of the atom bomb.

I wonder, for example, what the customers of U. S. Steel would think if I told them that the total tax which our company collected from them last year and turned over to various agencies of government was so large that it would cover the entire cost of running Congress and the Federal Courts. Would that surprise our customers?

If so, the real facts would shock them utterly. The truth is that the total tax of U. S. Steel last year was seven times that large, yet we are only one among thousands of businesses who collected taxes from those who bought our steel last year.

The American people are paying more in taxes than they pay for all their food and shelter combined. Government takes one third of every dollar that the average American makes. But that average American pays only a fraction of his tax directly to the government itself.

The rest of the tax is hidden in the price we charge him for the things he buys from us.

The power to tax is the power to destroy. As long as we permit that power to be used in this deceptive fashion, it can—and will—destroy us.

I want to congratulate the Democrats on the title of the campaign song which they used this year, "Don't Let Them Take It Away!"

I can think of no sentiment which should appeal more strongly to the heart of every American taxpayer. I know of no motto which might be adopted more appropriately by American business and enterprise.

The H-Bomb is reported to give off a brighter light than the A-bomb and it may even be that future historians will report it gave off a brighter light than the light of civilization.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

All By Light Smiles

Gus Q. Public is at last getting a picture (unfortunately not on TV) showing how mobsters, ex-convicts and narcotics peddlers are permitted to run a smile into a position of influence and parlay a cocktail, a bowl of chowder and a social hour into a big asset in a million-dollar racket.

Behind the horrifying picture of a child getting drugs in a dark alley is that of the too-affable public servant who doesn't shudder enough when in close proximity to vermin.

Many of the public men mentioned in the current New York crime commission probe are beyond the influence of underworld characters and inwardly detest them as scum of the earth. But the testimony shows that in New York, as in countless communities all over the nation, they don't spit in their eyes, or give them the swift heave-ho which the situation calls for.

They restrain the "Scram ya crumbbum!" impulse too easily.

Not only in New York but in many other cities, big and small, do you find prosecutors, jurists, mayors, top politicians and distinguished citizens taking a pretty tolerant attitude as they find themselves in the company of underworld characters who have muscled into the group photo of important people.

They know these guys, their low operations, their shocking pollution of the social stream and their degradation of the young, but raise no ruckus about being at big banquets, hot luncheons and cocktail parties with them — not once but time after time.

Nothing is funnier than the assertions of some of the men involved in hobnobbings with notoriously nefarious characters that they thought they were sweeter than the breath of spring and always assumed they were "standins" for Civic Virtue.

—:—

The New York probe cries out for video coverage. Millions would be alerted as they have been alerted only in the Kefauver quiz.

The papers are doing a grand job, but here is a situation that needs to be seen by the naked eye play by play, smell by smell and seandal by scandal.

Millions who don't read all the testimony, even in condensed form, and who don't seem too excited over the picture of ex-convicts, dopering chiefs and mobsters getting a finger into law enforcement agencies, courts and city government would be all hot and bothered if they got it all by television.

You have to see and hear some of the top-bracket witnesses to believe such a situation exists outside of a video whodunit, a Hollywood writer's imagination or a Damon Runyon story of quaint underworld characters.

In this corner the public, the saperoo who suffers most from the underworld influence on government and dirty work at the legal crossroads, is entitled to a ringside seat where it can get the close-up picture of baddies having fun at banquets, private dinners, weddings, christening, etc., with public officials in a position to say who and who doesn't get the full treatment for sleazy operations.

There will be this corruption of government, and law-enforcement agencies, and courts until the public servants cry, "Throw those rats out! The smell ruins my digestion and gives me a deep pain in the conscience, not to mention other places!"

Top public figures are getting into video in such a big way that the day seems near when a statesman who can't do a tap dance or feed lines to a comedian may be rated as a stuffed shirt . . . The other night we had Gov. Warren in a sort of TV vaudeville sketch with Gracie Allen! ! ! . Darned good, too, although it surprised us almost as much as an interlude the same evening when we tuned in and found a grand opera star, Lily Pons, doing a knockabout act right out of the night clubs with Jimmy Durante. . . . Everybody's getting into the act! Harry Hyams, ace publicist, is to become a play producer.

Frankie Erickson, it appears, was allowed 184 special "bench visitors" in the hoosegow during a period in which only 186 were allowed to all the other 2,400 prisoners in the joint . . . . There were so many it was probably called the "morning line." . . . And those who came too late to make it were "late scratches," no doubt.

Real Runyon dialogue features the N. Y. State Crime Commission's quizzing of underworld characters, with the old "Who me?" response bobbing up time and again. Want an amusing scrap from the examination of one witness:

Q.—Do you have a personal address and phone book?

A.—Do I have one? No.

Q.—Did you ever have one?

A.—Who me? I might have had one, yes.

Q.—What happened to it?

A.—I never had any.

Q.—What did you do with them?

A.—I lost them.

Looking Backward

From The News Files

FORTY YEARS AGO—The Salem Chamber of Commerce acted to become a regular member of the Retail Credit Men's Association after listening to the report of A. H. Stratton, who was a delegate to recent conventions.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO—Jack Kearns, former manager of Jack Dempsey, is seeking $333,333.33 of Dempsey's earnings on an alleged contract signed in 1923.

TEN YEARS AGO—To keep Johnny Doughboy from being fed dry bread while fighting far away, the folks at home may soon have to spread their butter thin—or use some substitute.

FIVE YEARS AGO — Dorothy Vogelhuber and Nancy Zeck will be in charge of the topic, "Working Together With Him in Mexico," at a meeting of the Junior Mission group at the Emmanuel Lutheran church parlors.

No Escape Hatch

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The explosion of an H-bomb weapon in the Pacific may have startled the diplomatic world. The average American, however, took little more note of it than if, on a summer night, he had glanced up and seen a star fall.

Previous tidings of other new and marvelous ways in which the human race could destroy itself have exhausted his capacity for terror and dismay.

The ordinary mortal today is tired of being frightened by graphic previews of what may befall him. He has eaten the bread of crisis so long it has come to have a stale taste.

People were so upset over the atom bomb that the wider threat of the H-bomb can hardly appall them. You have to rest from fear sometime, and the average man feels like taking a seventh-inning stretch right now.

"So maybe I'll get conked sometime by an H-bomb instead of an atom bomb," he thinks. "What difference does it make to a fly whether it is swatted by a rolled up newspaper or a baseball bat?"

He is also losing his ability to marvel at the fresh marvels of science, because so many of its wonders turn out to be blunders.

This has been a fearful and tremendous century of strident and continuous change, multiple death and vast growth. It is perhaps the most adventurous and exploratory century in history, one that has thrown a small candle of light into the darkness of strange new worlds which seem to many more terrifying than inviting.

A man who is only as old as this century—just 52 years—has endured a lot. He has weathered at least three depressions and two and a half world wars. When he pauses to catch his breath and look back, it seems to him that nothing has remained unchanged with the possible exception of mother love.

The safe-seeming world he was born into has vanished long ago. He has seen the horse and buggy replaced by the jet plane, the stereoscope slide give way to the television image, chewing tobacco succeeded by bubble gum.

The key phrase of that sturdy, distant time was "All I want is a fair chance, an opportunity to show what I can do." Badgered and bedevilled by these years of ceaseless change, a 52-year-old man today worked fewer hours than his father did But his leisure also is now tormented by fears of new dooms his grandfather never dreamed of even in his nightmares.

It is no wonder that this middle-aged man in a middle-aged centuy now often yearns, most of all, for some form of security, a sanctuary from the threat of immense danger that has palled his times almost as long as he can remember. Even the young, ordinarily venturesome,are infected today by the craving for a kind of security no generation ever really has had in the long hard lot of mankind on this earth.

The ordinary mortal would like science to quit dealing up fresh mass-death instruments and build him instead an escape hatch from the perils of the twentieth century.

Mullins Booster Club Group Elects Officers, Views Slides

Thanksgiving and patriotism were the themes of the dinner meeting of 48 members of the Mullins Booster Club Thursday evening in the Metzger hotel when Mrs. Forrest Hill was elected president to succeed Miss Louise Barrett. Other officers include:

Mrs. Dale Culberson, vice president; Mrs. Donald Kuhns, secretary; Mrs. Mary Hardin, treasurer; Mrs. Walter Loesch, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Clarence Votaw presided at the business session in the absence of Miss Barrett.

A wedding gift was presented to Mrs. Albert Lewis. New members introduced were Miss Iva Sanor, Miss Marlene Stryffeler, Jane Bird and Mrs. Margaret Beede. Prizes during the evening went to Miss Eleanor Everett, Miss Audrey Feicht, Miss Mary Abanitis and Mrs. Albert Lewis.

"Nola" and "Bumble Boogy" were the piano numbers played by Miss Carol Ann Puttkamer. Fred Puttkamer, a Mullins employe, showed colored slides of his trip through the Canadian Rockies and northwestern states.

Apples, topped with an American flag, were the dinner favors which marked each place and the Thanksgiving theme was carried out with fruit in baskets and orange tapers down the long tables.

Hostesses were Miss Phyllis Welsh, chairman, Mrs. Raymond Rhodes, Miss Mary Mozina and Miss Gerturde Thomas. Names were exchanged for the gift-giving at the Christmas party Dec. 11.

Presbyterian Girl Scouts Have Service

All members of Girl Scout Troop 31, consisting of 22 Flyups, former Brownie Scouts, and two new members, were presented their Girl Scout pins and troop numerals at a candlelight investiture service Tuesday at the Presbyterian Westminster house.

Color guard Karen Smith, Beverly Erath and Barbara Lieder, presented colors. The troop and leaders in horseshoe formation gave the pledge of allegiance followed by the song, "God Bless America."

Three large candles representing three parts of the Girl Scout promise were lighted as leaders explained the meaning and importance of the promise and laws of the Scouts, a code of ethics subscribed to by all members of the world-wide Girl Scout and Girl Guide organizations.

Ten small candles representing the 10 laws, placed around the Girl Scout trefoil, were lighted by troop members as they recited the promise and laws. Leaders, Mrs. Bill Winters, Mrs. Curt Hippley and Mrs. E. F. Jury presented pins to the following troop members:

Susan Aikenhead, Mary Lou Anderson, Janice Baxter, Mickie Cope, Judy Darner, Denise Detell, Beverly Erath, Linda Glass, Jacquie Hippely, Marcia Hundertmarck, Joyce Jensen, Sandra Jury, Kay Kuhl, Mary Ann Little, Nancy London, Dolores Menning, Barbara Lieder, Kathleen Porter, Judy Schneider, Sandy Sneddon, Sally Snyder, Karen Smith, Marilyn Straton and Janet Thomas.

Following the services refreshments were served by Troop Mothers Mrs. Carl Smith, Mrs. R. S. Aikenhead and Mrs. Mildred Jensen.

Troop 31 is sponsored by the Trimble Class of the Presbyterian Church. Foster representative is Mrs. Nina Jones.

Area Church People To Attend Session

Rev. Arvid E. Kuitunen, pastor of the Greenford Evangelical Lutheran Church, and members of the congregation will attend the meeting of the Canton-Youngstown Federation of the church Sunday from 2:30 to 6 p.m. at St. Luke's Church in Youngstown.

Transportation will be provided and members will leave from the church at 1:45 p.m. The Luther League of the church will meet Sunday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the parish hall. Senior and Junior Choirs will meet Sunday at 7 p.m. in the church.

Salem Garden Clubs To Meet In Library

Mrs. E. S. Huffman, member of the Salem Garden Club and national accredited flower judge, will present the program on holiday arrangements at the meeting of members of the Salem Garden Club and the Garden Study Club Monday at 8 p.m. in the library.

Members of the Salem Garden Club are planning the program, while the Garden Study Club members will be the hostesses. Seed for the birds in the bird sanctuary at Centennial Park is to be brought by Salem Garden Club members.

District Churches Plan Yule Services

December schedule of the Bunker Hill and Damascus Methodist Churches includes the annual Christmas pageants and programs. The choir of the Bunker Hill Methodist Church will present a Christmas pageant Sunday, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m.

The annual Christmas service, "White Gifts for the King" will be held Sunday morning, Dec. 21 at the Damascus and Bunker Hill Methodist churches. The annual Christmas program will be presented Sunday, Dec. 21 at 8 p.m. at the Damascus Methodist Church.

Baptist Women Aid Building Fund

The Baptist Building Fund is richer by $1,000 as the result of the successful benefit conducted recently by members of the Baptist Women's Christian Service League. Reports of the benefit were made at the all-day meeting of the women Thursday in th church.

During the business session conducted by Mrs. Fred Blevins, vice president, the league voted the $1,000 be divided with $900 for the Thanksgiving offering and the $100 remainder as the Christmas gift. Mrs. Blevins presided in the absence of Mrs. Walter Albaugh, who is ill.

The women extended a vote of appreciation to all who helped make the benefit a success. Mrs. Blevins headed the booth committee; Mrs. Robert Hammell the dining room committee, and Mrs. Norman Kelly, the kitchen committee. All members of the league and many others contributed to the success of the venture.

Another benefit was planned for Dec. 12 and 13 at Fish Dry Cleaning. Miss Verona Chapin will head the committee. Mrs. William Sproat led in prayer and Mrs. Blevins conducted the worship service.

There will be no meeting in December. The next all-day session will be Jan. 15, when the women will bring a sack lunch.

Sorority Members Hear Mrs. Sechler

Highlighting the program of Xi Pi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Thursday evening was the reminiscing of Mrs. Gus Sechler, who came to Salem as a French war bride following World War I.

Mrs. Sechler was introduced by Mrs. Rex Hundertmarck, who entertained the group in her home on W. Third St.

Mrs. Sechler answered questions and displayed handiwork of French women which she brought back from two trips to her native land.

In Mrs. Hundertmarck's topic on "Our Foreign Friends," she urged the members to cultivate tolerance for other peoples.

At the business session presided over by Mrs. Ned Massa, the chapter voted to purchase a Christmas Seal Bond. Names were exchanged for Christmas party gifts.

Assisting the hostess in serving lunch were Mrs. Edward Scullion and Miss Margaret Bryan.

The next meeting, Dec. 4, will be in the home of Mrs. James Alaback of Reilly Ave.

Bruce Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd M. Gordon of 185 Highland Ave., a freshman at Denison University at Granville, is enrolled in Air Science I of the ROTC program there.

Jewish Women Make Plans For Children's Party Dec. 14

Plans for the Hanukkah Party to be given children of members of Salem Section, National Council of Jewish Women, were made at the meeting of members Wednesday in the Memorial Building.

The party, scheduled for Dec. 14 in the Memorial Building, celebrates the ancient feast of lights which begins this year on Dec. 13 and lasts eight days. Hanukkah is a holiday of rejoicing and gift giving. In celebration, candles are lit in the homes, starting with one the first evening and the number increasing by one each evening until on the eighth night there are eight lights.

This progression is described as "a symbol of Jewish belief in the gradual, constant increase of intellectual light, and of the slow but steady victory of spiritual enlightment."

The program for Wednesday was presented by Mrs. N. I. Walken who played records of broadcasts from national networks commemorating "Council Day." Mrs. Goldie Schwartz presided at the meeting. The Hanukkah party will take the place of a December meeting so the next session will be Jan. 13 in the Memorial Building.

Church Women Hear Talk By Miss Gibson

Miss Katherine Gibson, Salem sculptress, in her talk to members of the Women's Fellowship of the Christian Church Wednesday evening, suggested that "we see that a Christian background is offered to artists of tomorrow by putting religion in things we do every day."

"Religious Art" was Miss Gibson's topic and she showed pictures of noted cathedrals. She said that, "The seed of religious art is sowed in the love of God;" and that, "Art is the language in which we learn about God."

Forty-five women heard Miss Gibson in the program arranged by Mrs. Darrell Rowlands. Introductory to Miss Gibson was the story told by Mrs. Rowlands concerning the painting, "Praying Hands." She explained how Albrecht Durer came to paint the picture and she concluded by playing the selection "Gentle Hands" on the piano.

The worship service, conducted by Mrs. Virginia Courtney, included several poems and the reading of the 107th Psalm. Mrs. Lloyd Marshall was accompanist for the singing of "Sweet Hour of Prayer." Presiding at the meeting was Mrs. Calvin Filler.

The Judith Group headed by Mrs. LeRoy Beery were hostesses for the evening. The Circles will meet individually Dec. 10 and the next general meeting will be Jan. 28.

Society Distributes New Testaments

The Alliance Camp of the Gideon Society recently distributed 1,153 Youth New Testaments to fifth grade students in schools of this area. L. H. Parker of the Newgarden Rd., president, was assisted in the distribution by four other members—Clifford Aiken Jr., Orlan Wank, Willard L. Yengling and Herman C. Stratton.

Schools included Salem, Lisbon, Damascus, Goshen Center, Sebring, Maple Ridge, Alliance, Limaville, Lexington, Sawburg and Marlboro.

ENROLLED IN COLLEGE

Edward A. Price of 291 Highland Ave. is among the students enrolled in the freshman class at Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H.

Edward Wilhelm Is Class President

Edward Wilhelm was elected 1953 president of the Presbyterian Forum Class at the meeting Thursday evening in the Highland Ave. home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Young. Mr. Wilhelm will succeed Russell Pearson who presided at the meeting. Other officers include:

Miss Margaret Bryan, vice president; Mrs. John P. Olloman, secretary, and Ray Coburn, treasurer. On the social committee with Mr. and Mrs. Young were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Clewell. Arranging the entertainment were Mr. and Mrs. Evas Lipp and Mrs. Dorothy Crook.

Auctioneer for the benefit which provided fun as well as money for the class was Mr. Lipp. Paper charades and refreshments concluded the evening. Four lighted tapers were used on the table which was centered with a harvest display of fruit.

At the meeting Dec. 18, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Breit will be chairman of the social committee and Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm of the entertainment committee.

Ole Timers Club Holds Card Session

Mrs. Harvey Trough, Mrs. Walter Holmes and Mrs. Keith Hess were winners in "500" when members of the Ole Timers Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Albert Owen at Augusta.

Lunch was served by the hostess. A fall arrangement of fruit made up the centerpiece for the table.

The next meeting will be Dec. 16 at the home of Miss Pauline Sloss of Hanoverton.

FLUID SOFTNESS OF LINE, HAVING GAINED a general fashion acceptance, is at its very best in the many new day-times crepes.

As a welcome change from the tailored severity of a suit, these new crepes offer flattering femininity. They take to gentle, ladylike accessories: the soft kid pump; the curving, feathered hat, the longer glove and the pretty suede bag.

They fit into many wardrobes, a fact not true of all fashions. They are right for the dressy days in the life of a housewife. They meet numerous occasions and meet them well for the career girl, the college girl, the woman who combines a job with home-making.

We show (left) a subtly-draped rayon-and-acetate crepe with high surplice neckline and slim sleeves. Cummerbund is in the same satin used to make the buttons and to bind the neck.

A second dress in the same fabric (right) gains surface interest through its all-over tucking. Velvet is used for small, pointed collar and for ribbon that runs under tucks at the hipline, creating the low-waistline look.

TO BE CLASS HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ellyson of N. Lincoln Ave. will be hosts when members of the Philathea Class of the First Friends Church meet Tuesday evening.

Welcome Bridge Club Plans Yule Event

Mrs. Clair Leeper was a guest of members of the Welcome Bridge Club Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Richard Beltz on the Egypt Rd. Twelve members enjoyed the games and dessert served by the hostess. Mrs. Leeper assisted Mrs. Beltz.

Prizes went to Mrs. William Grim, Mrs. Wesley Becker and Mrs. Leeper. Plans were made for the Christmas dinner meeting Wednesday, Dec. 3, starting with cocktails at the home of Mrs. Grim at 2000 Oak St., followed by dinner at Horvath's. White elephants will be brought for the gift exchange and the group will play bridge.

Jan. 14 the members will be guests of Mrs. Robert Marshall at her home at 897 E. Sixth St.

Daughters Of Emmanuel Plan Kitchen Painting Project

Daughters of Emmanuel of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church have secured a new stove for the church kitchen and the members are now working on a kitchen painting project. This project was discussed at the meeting of the circles Wednesday.

Another project of the group is the Thanksgiving week clothing drive for Lutheran World Relief. Kits for children also are being assembled under the Relief program. "Christ and the Jews" was the topic of Circles' meetings Wednesday included:

Esther

Mrs. Daniel Theiss, with Mrs. Joe Weiss assisting, entertained 12 members of the Esther Circle at the Theiss home on N. Lincoln Ave. Leader of the devotions was Mrs. George Gottschling, while Mrs. Williams Adams and Mrs. George Spack were in charge of the evening's topic.

Following the open discussion, Mrs. Andy Gottschling gave the history of the hymn, "America, the Beautiful." Gifts will be exchanged at the Christmas party, Dec. 17, at the home of Mrs. John Dangle on S. Union Ave. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. George Spack and Mrs. Walter Weber.

Mary

Mrs. John Bauman, president of the Daughters of Emmanuel, was a guest at the meeting of the Mary Circle in the home of Mrs. Howard Smith on Jennings Ave. Mrs. Smith was assisted by Mrs. Michael Binder Jr. Nine members heard Mrs. Simon Theiss give the study topic, "Prayer, the Mightiest Power in the World."

The "Missionary Outlook" was the source of the information presented by Mrs. Bauman on "Christ and the Jews" and a review of the life of Samson. Cross of peace in Alsace is said to promote the idea of peace between Germany and France but the love of Christ only can bring peace, according to the article discussed by Mrs. Bauman.

She also told about the church on wheels, "Chapel of the Good Shepherd" which is supported in the atomic energy plant area in South Carolina by the Lutheran Church. This is the first denomination to bring religion to the more than 180,000 people there. The chapel cost $4,000 compared to the billion dollars spent for the atomic plant. In closing, the women joined in a prayer cirlce. The Christmas meeting Dec. 17 will be in the home of Mrs. Joe Schmid on N. Ellsworth Ave.

Martha

Eight members and three guests, Mrs. Brooke Votaw, Mrs. Grace Muntz and Mrs. Milton Kaufman, were present at the meeting of the Martha Circle in the home of Mrs. Norman Muntz on the Lisbon Rd. Mrs. George Woerther led the worship service and Mrs. George Theiss conducted the round table discussion.

The report of the talk on refugee conditions in the Lutheran World Conference which convened in Hannover, Germany was related by Mrs. Matthew Engeter from a talk by Rev. H. D. Statlander, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church in Youngstown who attended the Hannover session.

Mrs. George Theiss will be hostess at the meeting, Dec. 11, in her home on Washington St. when gifts will be exchanged.

Naomi

Mrs. Chester Conghenauer and Mrs. Edward Kellner were guests of 13 members of the Naomi Circle in the home of Mrs. Arthur Hively on W. 10th St. Assisting the devotions on the subject, "Do Your Best Today."

The meaning of the advent was discussed by Mrs. John Ulrich, and Mrs. W. J. Seeman led the topic on "Christ and the Jews." A review of the World Community Day Service last week was given by Mrs. Ralph Gang. The Christmas party will be in the home of Mrs. Charles Nelson on E. Eighth St. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Seeman and Mrs. Edward Lesch. Gifts will be exchanged.

Ruth

Mrs. Dale Thompson was the leader of the worship topic at the meeting of nine members of the Ruth Circle in the home of Mrs. Andy Klein on S. Madison Ave. Mrs. Thompson also led the open discussion. The members will meet Dec. 17 in the Thompson home on the Depot Rd. Gifts will be exchanged at this coverdish dessert affair.

Hannah

Ten members of the Hannah Circle were guests of Mrs. Steve Zatko in her home on S. Union Ave. Assisting were Mrs. John Panuska and Margaret Zatko. The worship service was led by Mrs. Andrew Klein Jr.

Mrs. Walter Linder was in charge of the open discussion on "Christ and the Jews." Members will exchange gifts at the meeting Dec. 17 in the home of Mrs. Andy Kekel Jr. on E. Ninth St. Mrs. Walter Meiter is co-chairman.

If your cake is a disappointing undersize, the fault may be due to not enough baking powder or soda, too large a pan, too hot an oven, or overmixing of the ingredients.

Bliss Co. Officials Guests At Dinner

The general outlook of the company was Mr. Tredinnik's topic. Mr. Herrick spoke briefly as did Robert Potter, local vice president and manager of the plant here. Ray Luxuiel presided at the meeting.

Jack Rance, personnel manager, and Michael Ulitchny, maintenance foreman, spoke on "safety and good housekeeping." The 31 men in attendance heard the report of the nominating committee comprised of Willis Tarleton, D. C. Davis and Frank Schmid.

Officers will be elected, and installation will be effected at the Dec. 8 meeting in Mansfield when the men tour the Empire Steel plant. They will leave Salem at noon by bus and conclude the tour with dinner in Mansfield.

E. Ralph Martin, will be in charge of the tour and Joe Heigel, electrical engineer, and John Borland, designer, will arrange for the dinner.

When young children are given cooked dried beans, the beans should be mashed or put through a food chopper to make them thoroughly digestible.

VALUABLE DOOR PRIZE TO SOME LUCKY LADY

Ike Swamped With Gifts, Ideas From Well-Wishers Everywhere

By J. A. O'LEARY

If Gen. Eisenhower doesn't find the right answers to the major problems that will confront him in the White House it won't be the fault of his loyal supporters throughout the nation.

Thousands of them already are flooding the temporary Eisenhower headquarters with letters containing advice on everything from how to end the Korean War to the operation of the government Wildlife Service.

Hundreds of others, who have no advice to offer, are showering gifts on the President-elect and Mrs. Eisenhower, just to show how much they like them.

One of the first packages to arrive contained live worms from someone who had read that the general hoped to do some fishing while on vacation.

Housewives, who turned out in droves to hear Ike speak during the campaign, are insisting now that he try their home-made preserves. Within a week of election day the Eisenhowers had received more than 50 varieties of jelly and jam.

Those whose job it is to sort the mail are impressed by the religious theme that motivates most of the letters.

A great majority of them are one or two paragraphs long, and merely ask Divine guidance for the new President in these troubled times. The tone of these letters may explain why he was swept into office by the largest vote any presidential nominee ever received.

Ike is getting many letters urging that he abandon his trip to Korea as too dangerous, but a few want to know why he didn't leave the day after election.

Parents of servicemen are writing in to ask if he could inquire about their boys—some of them prisoners of war—while he is in Korea.

A Quaker in New England suggested a campaign to ransom the American prisoners from North Korea, and inclosed $1 to start the ransom fund. He thought the nation could well afford to spend a billion dollars in such a cause, and reasoned that hungry North Koreans might not turn down such bait.

From Washington came a plan for breaking the deadlock over prisoner exchange, which halted the Korean armistice talks. It was simplicity itself: Why not release all the U.N.-held prisoners who do not want to return to Communist rule? Then the only prisoners remaining for exchange would be those who want to go back. The writer did not think there would be any risk in this release plan.

About a third of the letters are from children, probably the ones who held up homemade "I Like Ike" signs everywhere the general campaigned.

A 13-year-old boy in Massachusetts wrote that he is interested in government, but one thing he can't understand is why people in the District of Columbia are not allowed to vote.

He asked the general to explain this to him, and confided that he didn't let his mother know he was writing the letter because he wanted to surprise her with the answer.

Another 9-year-old youngster told the general he is having trouble trying to decide whether he wants to be "president like you or a country doctor, like dad." "I guess you couldn't tell me which would be best," he added.

A man in Colorado gives the general a solution to the inflation problem. He wants the new president to take 1940 as a base, then start next month applying a gradual cut of 1 per cent a month in all wages and prices until they are back to the 1940 level, and try to stabilize them there. The writer would not permit any strikes during this period of readiustment.

A small contractor in Wisconsin had a plan for promoting prosperity by paying men in the armed forces less while they are in uniform, but give them $1,000 a year in cash after they are mustered out, with which to buy homes.

This is one bit of advice that will be discarded quickly, for, all during the campaign, Gen. Eisenhower was disavowing a rumor that he planned to cut the pay of servicemen.

A substantial number of the letters contain recommendations for the Eisenhower Cabinet. Several urged him to invite Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia into his cabinet, as a recognition of the theory that the South broke its solid Democratic front only to vote for Eisenhower—not the Republican party.

A few letters suggested the general offer his opponent, Adlai Stevenson, a Cabinet post. One said it would "confound our enemies' if Gov. Stevenson should be made secretary of state.

One school teacher, writing in to suggest that the general's first act as President be to set aside a day for national prayer, knew more than the average letter writer about how presidential mail is handled.

She started her communication with a note to "Whoever screens the mail" not to keep this one from the general.

Quite a few of those who took their pens in hand modestly suggested that they are available for any service they may be able to render on the Eisenhower team.

Putnam May Delay Soft Coal Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam may postpone until next week his decision on whether a $1.90 daily pay raise for soft coal miners is inflationary.

Putnam was reported today to have about decided to put off the ruling until next Monday or Tuesday. He had promised earlier to do everything possible to reach a decision this week.

The case came to Putnam on an appeal from a Wage Stabilization Board decision holding that only $1.50 of the miners' negotiated payraise was approvable under the nation's wage controls. The board held that the extra 40 cents, if paid, would be inflationary.

There was no indication of how Putnam would rule. If he upholds the WSB and rules that the extra 40 cents per day can't be paid the miners, they may walk out in protest.

A ruling reversing the WSB, on the other hand, would damage that agency's prestige and might lead to some resignations.

Enlistments Open In Armed Services

Enlistments are now open in the Army, Air Force, WAC and WAF according to T-S Wallace Daffner of New Kensington, Pa., who is United States Army and Air Force recruiting officer for Columbiana County and Hancock County, West Virginia.

The main recruiting office is in the postoffice in East Liverpool but Sgt. Daffner is stationed every Thursday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the postoffice here. Wednesday from 9 to 2 he is in East Palestine and Wednesday to 5 o'clock he is in Lisbon.

Judge Sentences Youth To 6 Months In Jail

LISBON—Eugene Beagle, 19, of East Liverpool was given a 12-month sentence in the county jail on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor at a hearing Thursday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

Judge Tobin suspended six months of the sentence.

Beagle was arrested this week by juvenile officers after he purchased two cars in East Liverpool with money stolen from an East Liverpool drug store recently by a 17-year-old youth.

$250,000 In Tax Claims Due Ohioans

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — There's a quarter of a million dollars kicking around State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy's office that he wants to return to taxpayers. The law prevents him.

The money came from overpayments on intangibles taxes. Tracy would like to return the cash and plans to ask the new Legislature for permission.

Until he receives it, Tracy can only issue certificates of abatement for the overpayments. The certificates can be used only to pay future taxes of a similar nature.

The treasurer started issuing them in 1939. The first one for $4 still is unused. Another for $4,000 went to a firm that no longer is in business. One Dayton firm has credit for overpayments exceeding $100,000.

Tracy, as the state's chief tax collector, handles about a billion dollars annually from various sources. The taxes he collects go either into the general revenue fund to run the state or they are returned to local governments for their use.

The last Legislature broadened the law covering certificates of abatement to permit their use for any tax going into the general fund if the taxes originally paid went there.

But for taxes returned to local governments, the certificates can be used only for like taxes in the future.

Tracy's office said it would help if the certificates could be used to pay any kind of future taxes collected by the state. But the treasurer prefers to return the cash and expressed the hope that the law makers will grant that authority and eliminate some bookkeeping.

Bowl Bids Are At Stake In Saturday's Games

Unbeaten UCLA, California Play

Interest Is Focused On Big 10 Contests

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1952 collegiate football season, gaining momentum with each succeeding week, reaches a fervent pitch tomorrow as top teams collide in "do or die" efforts and "traditional" affairs.

Most of the attention will evolve around those still in contention for a bid to the granddaddy of all post-season classics — the Rose Bowl. After Saturday the situation in both the Pacific Coast and the Big 10 Conference races should be clarified considerably.

The eyes of the nation will be centered on Los Angeles' Memorial Coliseum. There a pair of undefeated grid titans, UCLA and Southern California, clash head-on in a game that will determine the far western representative in the Rose Bowl.

More than 100,000 spectators will jam the coliseum to witness the fray while fans around the country also will be able to view the contest from their TV sets starting at 4:45 p.m., EST.

This is the national television game of the week and for the third Saturday in a row the stay-at-homes will be blessed with a top-ranking game.

UCLA, rated third in the AP poll, and Southern California, the country's fourth-ranking team, both boast identical 8-0 records. The game appears to be a toss-up with Southern California's reserve strength giving the Trojans a very slight edge.

A low-scoring game is anticipated with the team that scores first rated a good chance of capturing the verdict and the Rose Bowl bid that goes with it.

Three key contests are on the agenda in the Big 10 race.

Michigan and Wisconsin are tied for the Western Conference lead with identical 4-1 records. Purdue and Minnesota share second place at 3-1-1.

Michigan plays at Ohio State, Wisconsin is host to Minnesota and Purdue entertains Indiana and anything can happen.

Michigan and Wisconsin, if they both win, could tie for the championship, and a conference committee would have to determine the bowl candidate. If either Michigan or Wisconsin loses, the survivor winds up with the trip to Pasadena.

If Michigan and Wisconsin both lose, then Purdue and Minnesota would have a chance to tie for the title. Ties in any of the games also could cause some more confusion in the jumbled standings.

The Sugar Bowl and Cotton Bowl both have picked their choices for New Year's Day, but the Orange Bowl has not yet made any definite commitments. Alabama, Pittsburgh and Syracuse all are possibilities for the Miami junket and the three teams see action Saturday.

Alabama will be facing a vengeful Maryland outfit which was knocked out of the ranks of the unbeaten last week by Mississippi, 21-14. If the Crimson Tide can halt the Terrapins, it could gain the bid.

Michigan State, top - ranking team in the nation, goes after its 24th straight victory against Marquette.

Georgia Tech, the No. 2 team which opposes Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl, should maintain its unblemished slate against Florida State. Mississippi is idle.

BIG GAME MEN—Linebacker Roger Zatkoff, left, of Michigan, braces himself for the Ohio State attack, Nov. 22. Guard Norm Manoogian, center, of Stanford is going to have something to say about which way California ball-carriers will go. Dean Smith, Navy halfback, warms up for Army.

Salem Plays Cage Preview Nov. 29

Coach John Cabas has stepped up the pace at practice sessions of his 1952-53 Salem High school squad in preparation for its first public appearance in a basketball preview Nov. 29 at East Liverpool.

Salem will be among four teams who will each bring a varsity and a reserve team to the event. Both varsity and reserve squads will have three abbreviated games of two six-minute quarters. Competing schools besides Salem include Wellsville, Toronto and host East Liverpool.

Cabas hopes to enter another such preview the following weekend in Strthers, where all the teams from in and around Youngstown and the Steel Valley Conference will tangle. Plans now call for the locals to engage Youngstown Ursuline in two seven-minute periods.

The Quaker coach feels that these early season appearances help take some of the pressure off the players and give the boys added experience. Cabas feels they also offer the coaching staff a better look at the players under actual game conditions.

HE IS ESPECIALLY pleased with the setup for the East Liverpool preview because it will give him an opportunity to see both his varsity and reserve squads in action.

As far as the team is concerned, Cabas says there will be a shortage of height, but there will be plenty of speed, good shooting and "a premium on ball-handling."

At this early stage, it's hard to exactly know how the team will shape up, but the coaches, Cabas and his assistant Karl Zellers, have a few prospects lined up.

Leading the team this year will be Capt. Ed Votaw, six foot senior, who is one of the two returning lettermen. Votaw was a starter last year and his aggressive play made him a standout.

Votaw will be on the outside of Cabas's 3-out, 2-in system, and his ability to drive in will be put to good use.

Another probable starter will be the other letterman, six-foot Junior Jack Gottschling. Gottschling was a "find" last year and saw considerable varsity action near the end of the year. Gottschling also will be on the outside.

Cabas hasn't definitely decided on the third back court man as yet, but Bill Buckman, five foot 11-inch senior, has the inside track. Buckman didn't see too much action last season because of ineligibility and sickness, but his expert ball-handling makes him a threat for this campaign.

Football star Nelson Mellinger, returning to the hardwood after a year's absence, stands to be the number six man and the "spot" man. The five-foot 8-inch senior is very speedy and the type of ball player, who, as Cabas says, "you like to have around." Mellinger is capable of picking up a ball team when its going bad, and he will see lots of action this year.

—:—

FOR PIVOT MEN, CABAS has Stan Cosky, six foot one-inch junior, selected as a probable starter. Cosky saw action last year on the reserves, and his play appears much improved this year.

The fifth starting slot is the big question mark. Cabas is looking for someone who can control the valuable backboards. At present, he has five prospects.

Football star John Baker, six foot one-inch 170-pound junior, stands a good chance. Baker is big and strong, and is coming along fine, according to the coaches. Two seniors, Bob Metcalf and Bob Kupka, also have a good opportunity to crack the starting five. Metcalf, six-foot senior who played a lot of football this past season, is in his first year at Salem. He transferred from Mecca, Ohio, where he has played two years of varsity ball.

Six-foot one-inch Kupka came along fast at the end of last season, and he will be given every chance to make good.

Two other prospects are Jack Alexander, six foot one-inch freshman, and Larry Stoffer, six-foot sophomore. Both boys are young and show great potential. Both boys will see plenty of action with the Reserve team this year if they don't make the varsity.

Another freshman who will see plenty of action with the Reserves is Dick Hunter, a five-foot 11-inch sharpshooter from last year's crack Junior High squad.

The loss of six graduated Seniors from last year, plus two good-looking prospects, Harry Davidson, who moved to Washingtonville, and Jerry Mountz, who had to drop out of school because of his father's illness, will hurt.

—:—

IN ORDER TO SPEED UP the progress of the team, Cabas has split the 45-man squad into two groups. The more advanced boys, and those who have had experience practice at night after supper, while the newcomers and those who aren't quite as far advanced, work out after school.

The local mentor is working hard in his third year to come up with a good record.

In addition to the double practice sessions, Cabas plans three workouts for tomorrow.

The inexperienced group will come at 9 a.m., and the progressed aggregation will practice at 11 a.m. and again at 3 in the afternoon.

Cabas wants to get a good look at all the boys. He says that anyone coming out after playing football or after a long period of inactivity, cannot show their best for the first few days. He believes everyone should have the opportunity to show what they can do and he is giving them every chance.

Two Leetonia Gridders Named To Tri-County League All-Star Team; Lisbon Player Selected

Two Leetonia gridders and a Lisbon player were named to the first team of the mythical all-Tri-County League football team which was selected earlier this week by the coaches of the seven-team loop.

Harry Kornbau of the Bears was named at one end position and his teammate, Joe Guido, was placed in the first team backfield.

The Blue Devils' Delbert Carlisle was selected as one of the guards of the first eleven.

Three players from East Palestine, two Poland, two Minerva and a Sebring youth rounded out the selections for Tri-County honors. Jim Klein, Harold Bush and Cork Doran, all of East Palestine, were placed at an end, backfield, and guard positions, respectively. Poland's Dan Smolanovich and Nick Capezutti were named to the backfield and tackle spots, respectively, while Jerry Schmidt of Minerva was named at a tackle. The Lions' Ralph McCully rounds out the all-star forward wall at center with Steve Tucker of Sebring completing the backfield.

All of the first string players are seniors except Kornbau and Carlisle, both of them being juniors.

Leetonia placed three members of their team on the second team, Fred Culler, end; John Gabriel, guard; and Joe Billet in the backfield. The Blue Devils' also had three gridders selected on the second eleven in Dick Bosel, end; Jack Pike, center; and Dean Nicholson, backfield.

Rounding out the second squad from Columbiana County are three East Palestine youths. They are Dick Marshall, tackle; Dale Byrd, guard and Tony Conkle, backfield.

The championship of the Tri-County League ended in a deadlock between Leetonia and East Palestine.

Zeller To Direct Boosters For Year

Ward Zeller, manager of the Memorial Building, was elected president of the Boosters Club Thursday night at a meeting in the Memorial, succeeding James Jackson.

Zeller will guide the Boosters through the 1952-53 season.

John Pastier was elected vice president; Aldon Smith, secretary, and John Sebo, treasurer. Jackson was named to the board of directors.

Sauer's Wife Gives Birth To Second Child

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Hank Sauer Jr., Thursday celebrated his father's honor of being chosen the National League's most valuable player.

Hank Jr. observed the occasion by being born into a big, wide, noisy world—right down town at California Hospital.

Sauer, Chicago Cubs outfielder, and his wife, Esther, also are parents of a daughter, Betty Lorraine, 14 months.

Rio Grande Cagers Paced By Francis

RIO GRANDE, O. (AP)—Little Rio Grande College, which has less than 200 students, is right proud of its basketball team. The Southern Ohio school won its fourth straight game Thursday night, beating Waynesburg, Pa., 108-70.

Leading Rio Grande to the four wins—as many as the school collected all last season—has been a six foot, nine inch freshman, Clarence Francis, an All-Ohio high school player last year. Francis has 193 points in four games for an average of 48 per game. The team's average is 108.

Olson's Stock Goes Up After Sala KO

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Clever Carl (Bobo) Olson of Honolulu was established today as the foremost contender for the world's middleweight title following his second-round knockout Thursday night of hard-punching Lee Sala of Donora, Pa.

The 23-year-old ringman flattened the Pennsylvania boy for the full count with a right to the jaw. The knockout came in 2:12 of the second.

Sala had hit the canvas earlier in the same round for a nine-count. He went down that time from a right to the side of the face followed by a whizzing left hook to the chin.

Sala, a converted southpaw, is regarded as one of the hardest left hookers in the game. But he received a lesson in that kind of a blow from his opponent following a first round both men spent feeling each other out. They weighed in at an identical 163 pounds.

Cage Clinic Planned Tuesday At Memorial

A basketball rules clinic will be held for players, coaches, fans and anyone interested Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Building.

At Catlos, local cage and baseball official, will conduct the clinic on new rules and changes which will become effective this basketball season.

A question-and-answer period will follow the explanation of the rule changes, Ward Zeller, recreational director, said today.

Brooklyn's Black And Athletics' Byrd Are Selected As Top Rookies Of 1952

OSU Discards "Hoopla" For Michigan Tilt

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Two years ago when Michigan invaded Ohio State University for a Big Ten football fracas, the theme "Beat Michigan" thundered over the campus.

Today, one day before the Wolverines again tangle with the Buckeyes on OSU's home grounds, that cry is rarely heard.

Not that the desire to win is not as strong or the hope less fervent. But Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes feels a "relaxed confidence" and "controlled enthusiasm" will be better for his boys than a lot of "hoopla." In other words Michigan has been given the silent treatment.

Pictures of the Wolverines are absent from the locker room. Even newspaper clippings telling the sad, sad story of Michigan victories since 1944 are gone.

"Beat Michigan" signs are not splattered over buildings. There's a total absence of the usual "rock 'em; sock 'em" placards for the annual feud.

Thursday night, after an hour-long sweat - suit workout, team members gathered around the training table. They ate a hearty meal and sang songs. They were presented with flashy neckties by an admiring alumnus and were entertained by a magician.

Hayes has tried to avoid reaching a keen, psychological point too soon. In the past the Bucks have reached a peak by midweek and tired out by Saturday.

This week's drills have been short. Thursday there was no contact work. Even the traditional "senior tackle" was postponed until today. Seventeen seniors will hit the dummy for the last time.

Tonight some of the steam will be unloosed at the traditional homecoming bonfire and rally in front of the Ohio Union. But officials said they may try to taboo the mention of Michigan even then.

Carroll Howell will replace Fred Bruney as right half on defense so Bruney can devote his time to offense. Freshman Bud Bond will be in the center linebacker post instead of Skip Doyle. Skip did a top job against aerial-minded Illinois, but Hayes expects Michigan to turn loose a sharp running attack. Bond is better equipped for that type of offense, Hayes said.

There's ll be a brotherly battle between Dean Dugger, 19, Buckeye offensive right end, and Don Dugger, 21, Michigan defensive guard.

Columbiana Youngs Beat Mount Freshmen

COLUMBIANA—In a practice game in High School gym Wednesday evening, the Columbiana Youngs defeated the Mount Union College Freshmen 54-42.

William Readshaw, who was center for the Fairfield Comets when they went to Columbus for the state tournament in 1941, is the new general manager of the Youngs.

Merle Esterly, team manager is arranging a warm-up game with the Sharon Hoyle Club for Wednesday evening, Dec. 3, preceding the appearance here of the New York Colored Clowns the following Saturday evening, Dec. 6.

Demarco Must Win Bout Or Lose Shot At Title

NEW YORK (AP)—At the age of 23, it's pretty early to be making a comeback, but Paddy Demarco must bounce back from two upset losses tonight against Henry Davis to regain his place in the lightweight division.

Demarco, a rough laddie with the finesse of a billygoat, dropped his last two starts to lil' Arthur King and Orlando Zulueta in two major surprises. He can't afford to lose another if he hopes to get a shot at lightweight champ Jimmy Carter.

The 10-round scrap at Madison Square Garden, slated for 10 p. m. EST will be carried on a national radio (ABC) and television (NBC) network.

Both Win Honors For Mound Roles

Wilhelm, Courtney Named Runners-Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Black of Brooklyn and Harry Byrd of the Philadelphia A's, a pair of fine pitchers, were named Rookies of the Year today by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Black was an overwhelming choice in the National League with 19 votes from the 24-man committee that also placed him third in the most valuable player balloting.

Byrd, a late blooming hot shot, nosed out two catchers, Clint Courtney of the St. Louis Browns and Sam White of the Boston Red Sox in a three-man race. Byrd got nine votes, Courtney eight and White seven.

The feats of Black are well known to all because his relief work was largely responsible for the Dodger pennant. An also-ran in spring training, Black appeared in only six games up to June 1. Then he started to work.

At stretches, Manager Charley Dressen had the Negro ace working every day. He wound up with 56 games, a 15-4 won and lost record and a low earned run average of 2.15. That earned run mark was best in the league but it won't be recognized because he did not pitch 10 complete games or work at least 154 innings. He started only two games, one the last Saturday of the season as a tune-up for the World Series opener.

Hoyt Wilhelm, appearing in 71 games on relief for the New York Giants, was second to Black with three votes. Wilhelm had a 15-3 record and his 2.43 earned run mark won the title. He didn't start once but he did work 159 innings, five over the minimum.

Dick Groat, Pittsburgh's shortstop from Duke University, tied with Ed Mathews, Boston's third baseman, with one vote, each. Groat joined the Pirates from Duke June 16 and finished with .285 after a slow start. Mathews hit only .242 but he slammed 25 homers, three on Sept. 27 to set a record for a freshman.

The 1951 winners were Willie Mays of the Giants, now in service, and Gil McDougald of the New York Yankees.

Byrd made the big jump from Savannah of the South Atlantic League to the majors with great success. He finished with a 15-15 record, coming on strong in the late stages of the season. Thus the A's, with Byrd and Bobby Shantz, the most valuable player, cornered season honors in the American.

The 27-year-old righthander from Darlington, S. C. pitched 15 complete games including three shutouts. On Sept. 7 he blanked the pennant - bound Yankees with one hit. During the month of September he lost 1-0 games to both New York and Cleveland. Still he did not get his first starting chance until May 14.

Courtney and White gave him a real battle for the honors. Courtney, 25, moved up from Kansas City in the Yank - Browns trade that brought Jim McDonald to New York last November. The fiery bespectacled catcher climbed to .280 in early August and finished at .286.

Eagles Seek Revenge Win Over Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles, who once profited handsomely from bitter experience, move into Municipal Stadium Sunday seeking revenge from the first-place Cleveland Browns.

Coach Paul Brown's Clevelanders walloped the Eagles, 49-7, in their first meeting this year. But that provides no assurance of an easy afternoon this time, as the New York Giants can testify.

The Giants dumped the Eagles, 31-7, the first time they met, but lost the second game to the improving Philadelphians, 14-10. That dropped the Giants out of a tie with Cleveland for the lead in pro football's American Division. The Eagles and Giants are now tied for second, one game behind the front-running Clevelanders.

Brown, ever anxious this jittery season, points out that the Cleveland win over the Eagles was on a day when both Philadelphia defensive halfbacks were laid up with injuries. Cleveland's pass-master, Otto Graham, spotted the fill-in halfbacks and pitched to four touchdowns. But since then Russ Craft and Joe Sutton have recovered and Coach Jim Trimble has jacked up the Eagle defense all around.

Both Eagle offensive halfbacks are Ohioans — Don Stevens from Massillon, and Ralph Goldston from Campbell. Goldston scored the only Eagle touchdown in the first game.

The records of the two teams are even except for that first game between them. Each trimmed Pittsburgh twice, the Chicago Cards once and Washington once. Each lost to New York once and each lost to a National Division club—Cleveland to Detroit and Philadelphia to Green Bay.

DUNKIRK REVISITED

IN JUNE, 1940, German forces drove Allied troops into the sea at Dunkirk, France. Some 350,000 men were rescued from the beach as Nazi planes, tanks and soldiers swept ever forward. Today, 12 years later, a new $50 million refinery stands on the spot where a war-destroyed plant once stood. A village of 160 homes and a modern apartment house have been built since then and large oil tankers tie up where warships once evacuated troops.

This airview of Dunkirk, taken in 1940, shows oil tanks set ablaze by German war planes.

RESOLUTION NO. 521118-76
Passed November 18, 1952

BEING A RESOLUTION DECLARING IT NECESSARY TO IMPROVE WEST PERRY AND GRANITE STREETS, SERVING LOTS FIFTY-TWO (52), FIFTY-THREE (53) FIFTY-FOUR (54), FIFTY-FIVE (55), IN MAPLEWOOD ADDITION TO THE CITY OF SALEM BY THE CONSTRUCTION OF A SANITARY SEWER.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SALEM, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1

That it is necessary to improve West Perry and Granite Streets, serving lots No. fifty-two (52), fifty-three (53), fifty-four (54), fifty-five (55) in the Maplewood Addition to the City of Salem by the construction of a sanitary sewer, said sewer extending West on Perry and North on Granite, in the following manner:

By contruction of a sanitary sewer.

SECTION 2

That the grade of said sewer as improved shall be as shown by the engineer's plans and profiles which are made a part hereof.

SECTION 3

That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Engineer and now on file in the office of the Director of Public Service be, and the same hereby are, approved.

SECTION 4

The whole cost of said improvement, less one-fiftieth (1-50) of that amount, shall be assessed by the foot front upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit: All lots and lands abutting upon the proposed improvement, which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specially benefited by said improvement; and the cost of said improvement shall include the expenses of the preliminary and other surveys and of printing and publishing the notices, resolutions and ordinances required, and the serving of notices, and the cost of construction together with interest on notes and bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

SECTION 5

The assessments so to be levied shall be paid in five (5) annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as shall be borne by the bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection thereof; provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days after the passage of the assessing ordinance.

SECTION 6

That bonds of the City of Salem, Ohio, shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto; and notes of said city may be issued in anticipation of the issue of such bonds.

SECTION 7

That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement, not specially assessed, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, purchased or appropriated and the costs and expenses of any appropriation proceeding therefore, and the damages awarded any owner of adjoining lands and interest thereon, and the costs and expenses of any such award, shall be paid by the issuance of bonds in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 8

This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

ORDINANCE NO. 521118-75

TO AMEND SECTIONS 1, 2, 3, 5, AND 6 OF ORDINANCE NO. 520603-25 RELATING TO THE ISSUANCE OF $200,000 OF MORTGAGE REVENUE BONDS OF THE CITY OF SALEM; AND TO DECLARE AN EMERGENCY.

WHEREAS, under the provisions of Ordinance No. 520603-25 passed June 3, 1952, Council provided for the issuance of Waterworks Extension Mortgage Revenue Bonds of the City and further provided therein for the sale of such bonds, which contract of sale was subsequently terminated by reason of unavoidable delays in completing all matters necessary to the delivery thereof; and

WHEREAS, Council on November 4, 1952 entertained new proposals for the purchase of such bonds and by Resolution Nov. 521104-64 thereupon determined to accept the proposal for their purchase submitted by McDonald & Co. and Associates, whereunder changes were made in the amount, date, interest rate and other terms as set forth in Ordinance No. 520603-25 so that it is necessary that Sections 1, 2, 3, 5, and 6 of said Original Ordinance be amended to conform to the terms of such accepted proposal.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Salem, Columbiana County, Ohio:

Section 1. That Sections 1, 2, 3, 5, and 6 of Ordinance No. 520603-25 be and the same are hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 1. That it is deemed immediately necessary to issue and sell $210,000 of the Bonds for the purpose of completing the enlargement of and further improving and extending the municipal waterworks system in the manner hereinabove described.

"The Bonds shall be dated December 1, 1952; shall be of the demonination of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) each; shall be numbered from 1 to 210; and shall bear interest payable semi-annually on June 1st and December 1st of each year, beginning June 1, 1953, until the principal sum is paid, at the rate of three per centum per annum.

"Said Improvement Bonds shall mature at the rate of $10,000 on December 1st in each of the years 1962 to 1982, inclusive.

"Principal and interest thereon shall be payable at The Farmers National Bank of Salem.

"Said bonds shall be callable in whole or in part on any interest payment date on and after December 1, 1962, at the following redemption prices and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption.

102 per cent of par if redeemed on or before Dec. 1, 1967;

101½ per cent of par if redeemd after Dec. 1, 1967 and on or before Dec. 1, 1972;

101 per cent of par if redeemed after Dec. 1, 1972.

If less than the entire unmatured portion of said bonds is called for redemption at any time or from time to time, they shall be called in the inverse order of maturity of those outstanding, and if less than all outstanding bonds of one maturity are to be called, the selection of bonds of such maturity to be called shall be made by lot conducted by the Mortgage trustee.

"Section 2. Said Bonds are hereby awarded and sold to McDonald & Company of Cleveland, Ohio, and their associates in accordance with the terms of their written offer dated November 4, 1952 as supplemented by their letter of November 17, 1952; and said bonds shall be delivered by or under the instructions of the City Auditor upon payment of the purchase price provided in said bid with accrued interest to date of delivery.

"Section 3. The proceeds from the sale of the Bonds shall be allocated and are hereby appropriated to the following funds of the Utility, hereby established: (a) the portion representing accrued interest, to the Bond Retirement Fund, to the allocated to the Bond and Interest Account therein; and (b) the entire balance of such proceeds, to the Completion Construction Fund.

"Moneys in the Completion Construction Fund shall be maintained in a deposit account fully secured by direct obligations of the United States. Said Fund shall be used only for the purpose of paying the construction costs for completion of the enlargement and further improvement of the Utility mentioned in Section 1 and all things necessary and incidental thereto, including all costs incurred in connection with the issuance, sale and delivery of the Bonds. Any moneys remaining in said Construction Fund after completion of payment of the aforesaid costs and charges shall be transferred to the Bond Retirement Fund for allocation to the Reserve Account.'

"Section 5. The Bonds shall be designated "Waterworkds Extension Second Mortgage Revenue Bonds,"; shall be payable in lawful money of the United States; shall be in coupon form but registerable as to principal only; shall be negotiable instruments, and shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued and that they are issued pursuant to Article XVIII, Section 12, of the Constitution of the State of Ohio. The bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and Auditor and sealed with the corporate seal of the City, and the interest coupons thereto attached shall bear the facsimile signature of the Auditor.

Any right of redemption of Bonds shall be exercised by notice, specifying by number the Bonds to be called, to be published on behalf of the City by the Mortgage trustee once a week for three consecutive weeks in a financial journal published in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York and of national circulation, the first publication to be not more than forty (40) nor less than thirty (30) days prior to the date of redemption, upon which date (unless default shall be made, upon presentation, in the payment of the redemption price) all interest upon the Bonds so called shall cease.

The Bonds shall be payable solely from the revenues and properties of the Utility and shall be secured only, but equally and ratably without priority of one over another by reason of number or of date of bond, sale, execution or delivery, by the Mortgage (hereinafter provided for) constituting a lien upon said revenues and properties, after provision only for the reasonable operation and maintenance expense of the Utility and for the prior charges upon the Outstanding Issue, and subject to the prior lien rights created by the Prior Mortgage; and by the franchise hereinafter provided for under which, in case of foreclosure of the Mortgage, the purchaser may operate the Utility; provided, however, that nothing in this ordinance shall be construed as pledging the general credit of the City to the payment of said bonds or any part thereof or interest thereon.

"Section 6. So long as any Bonds secured by the Mortgage remain outstanding, all revenues from the operation of the Utility, as now constituted or hereafter improved or extended, shall continue to be deposited into the "Waterworks Revenue Fund," established and to be maintained as provided in Section 6 of the Outstanding Issue Ordinance. Out of said Fund, and after reserving therein at all times an adequate sum as working capital for the Utility, the following payments only shall be made and in the following order, to wit:

First: All reasonable and proper expenses of operating and maintaining the Utility and all its appurtenances, such expenses to exclude those of any other utility of the City whether or not such other utility shall be operated as a single unit with the Utility; and also the "Debt Service Fund", "Debt Service Reserve Fund" and "Replacement Fund" payments required by said Section 6 of the Outstanding Issue ordinance.

Second: Quarterly on the fifteenth days of February, May, August and November, into the Bond Retirement Fund; (1) the equal quarterly sum necessary to provide for payment of the interest due on the next ensuing interest payment date upon the Bonds from time to time outstanding; and (2) beginning on February 15, 1962, the equal quarterly sum necessary to provide for payment of the next ensuing principal maturity of the Bonds outstanding; and (3) beginning on February 15, 1953 a sum equal to 25 per cent of the amount payable on each such quarterly date under items (1) and (2) hereof until there shall have been created and at all times maintained in the Reserve Account in said Fund an Account balance at least equal on each December 31st to the aggregate amount payable during the ensuing calendar year under said items (1) and (2) hereof.

Moneys paid in to the Bond Retirement Fund shall be allocated first to the Bond and Interest Account to the extent necessary to meet the requirements of items (1) and (2) hereof, and then to the Reserve Account. Moneys in the Reserve Account in excess of the Account balance herein required may be used to retire outstanding Bonds by call for redemption or by purchase for cancellation at a price not exceeding their fair market value nor the redemption price prevailing at time of purchase.

Third: Quarterly as aforesaid, into the Bond Retirement Fund such sum in addition to the foregoing payments thereto as may be necessary and available, after meeting the requirements of paragraph Second, to make up any previous deficiency in any quarterly payment to said Fund.

Fourth: To the "Surplus Fund" established in paragraph Sixth of Section 6 of the Outstanding Issue Ordinance, the annual surplus revenues, permitted thereby to be so transferred, but only to the extent that such surplus revenues remain after the requirements of the foregoing paragraph Second and Third of this Section 6 for the preceding calendar year have been fulfilled and adequate provisions made to meet the current requirements of said paragraphs."

Section 2. That Sections 1, 2, 3, 5, and 6 of Ordinance No. 520603-25 be and the same are hereby repealed.

Section 3. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health, safety and welfare in said City and for the further reason that immediate construction of the extensions and improvements to be provided for from the proceeds of the Bonds is essential to provide adequate water supply and fire protection to said City and its inhabitants; WHEREFORE, this ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and immediately after its passage and approval.

Passed: November 18, 1952.
Approved: November 19, 1952.

Obituary

Clement Holloway

Word has been received of the sudden death of Clement Holloway of Yakima, Washington, who died at Portland, Oregon. He was a radio operator on a merchant marine ship, and was known in this vicinity through visits.

He was the son of Arthur and Anna Holloway of Flushing, O., who preceded him in death.

He is survived by a brother, Joseph, of Yakima, Wash., a step brother, Arthur Oliphant of Winona; and a step sister, Mrs. Lindley Peacock of Berlin Center.

Funeral services were held today at Yakima.

Mrs. Isaac Barber

Idella M. Barber, 89, of 2094 E. State St., formerly of Winona, died at the Salem City Hospital Thursday at 9 p.m. following a long illness.

She was born June 1, 1863 near Winona, the daughter of Calvin and Hannah Randals Ulery. She was a member of the Winona Methodist Church and Women's Christian Temperance Union. Her husband, Isaac Barber, died in 1941.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Walter Gray of Salem, with whom she made her home; two sons, Lebert, of Salem and Rayburn of Winona; six grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home Sunday at 2:30 p.m., with Rev. C. Clare Davis, Methodist Church pastor, officiating. Rev. Lydia Brantingham will assist.

Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Youth To Get Hearing On Larceny Charge

LISBON — Robert Strickland, 19, of Clendennin, W. Va. will be given a hearing today before Mayor Wilbur Warren on a charge of grand larceny.

Strickland is charged with stealing household articles from Lisbon residents last January. He was returned here Thursday by Patrolman Leon Zahrndt following his arrest at Charleston, W. Va. earlier this week.

line. On the extreme Eastern Front, North Korean troops stabbed twice last night and twice this morning at Allied positions south of Kosong in the Anchor Hill sector. All the probes were driven off.

On the Western Front, west of Yonchon, Chinese platoons attacked two outposts in early morning darkness and U. N. troops withdrew temporarily. Allied field guns pummeled the enemy and Allied forces reoccupied the positions without opposition.

On the Central Front, southeast of Capitol Hill, 175 Chinese hit an Allied outpost early today and engaged U. N. defenders in hand-to-hand fighting. The battle raged for three hours until Eighth Army troops brought up reinforcements and the Chinese broke contact at 5:30 a.m. and withdrew.

Light bombers of the U. S. Fifth Air Force hunted trucks a second successive night and reported destruction of 175 Communist supply vehicles on main routes in North Korea. This raised to 350 the total of vehicles knocked out in two nights.

sity of West Virginia, is married and is the father of two daughters, one 12 and the other 19.

He has had experience in juvenile court work, is a member of the Kiwanis Club and served as a major during World War II.

Mr. Hartwell, Columbiana county scout executive since 1948, has accepted a district scout executive job in Detroit.

Volunteers officers of the Council, with the help of Eugene Molenaur, field executive, and Mrs. Lois McCord, office secretary, will administer the Scout program in December.

The committee which made the selection from names submitted by the National Council included R. J. Barrow, chairman, George H. Bowman, George L. Lafferty, C. Emory Miller, D. W. Bailey, J. R. Stratton, Robert F. Beatty, Francis H. Lang, J. A. Reaney, and J. W. Pendry.

Mobile Chest X-Ray Unit Here Tonight

Free Chest X-rays again are available to the Salem public today through the services of the Columbiana Health League.

The Chest X-ray mobile is stationed at the Salem High School building today, with evening hours from 6 to 8 tonight.

The chest X-rays, taken in the fight to stamp out tuberculosis, are made possible through the purchase of Christmas Seals. The seals are now on sale in Perry Township with Lee D. Vincent of RD 4, as chairman.

A total of 733 persons were given free Chest X-rays when the mobile unit was here two weeks ago.

job, he will be attacked by left wingers from one end of the country to the other."

Few lawmakers were acquainted with McKay, but several of them expressed pleasure that a Westerner had been chosen for the interior post.

Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman, in Madison last night for an address at the University of Wisconsin, said of his successor: "A very fine choice—Gov. McKay is a fine man, very capable."

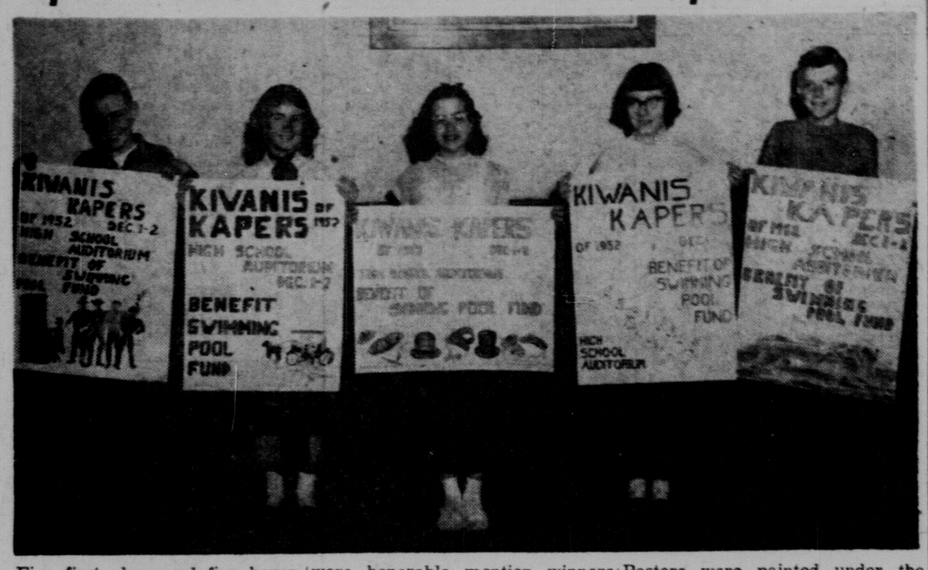

Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, who bolted the Republican party to support Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson, wasn't particularly pleased by the appointments for the reactionaries," Morse said. He has contended Eisenhower was "captured" during the campaign by "Republican reactionaries."

MISSING MAN RETURNS

LISBON—The sheriff's department was notified this morning that Clyde Densmore, 47, of Salem returned to his home Thursday night.

He was reported missing after he last was seen Sunday leaving Salem for Lisbon with a load of lumber.

Pupils' Posters Promote Kiwanis Kapers

Five first place and five honorable mention prizes were awarded this week to Junior High students in the Kiwanis Kapers poster contest conducted at the school.

First place winners above were (left to right) Harry Izenour, 7A; Mary Lukanus, 8B; Cora Needham, 8E; Barbara Shepard, 8B, and Bill Vaughan, 8D. Not shown were honorable mention winners Marjorie Comanisi, Richard Kniseley, Sally Karp, Barbara Cobourn and Ray Weaver.

The first division winners received two tickets each to the Kapers, and runners-up, one ticket. The rest of the 80 students who competed in the contest received free passes to the State Theater.

Posters were painted under the direction of Mrs. Lee Pelley, Junior High art teacher. Joseph Stadtlander, High School art teacher, judged the pictures.

The posters will be distributed among stores to advertise the Kapers, proceeds of which are earmarked for the Centennial Park swimming pool fund.

Cabinet

President-designate leaves Korea.

Lovett also said there will be no published schedule, relating to Eisenhower's departure, return, or whereabouts, at any time.

Eisenhower's aides gave no indication whether he will attempt to complete his cabinet before heading into the war zone.

He scheduled conferences today with Senators William Knowland of California, Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey and James Duff of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, editor and co-publisher of the Houston (Tex) Post, was on his calling list. She has been mentioned frequently as a possibility for a cabinet position or some other high office in government.

Lodge led the fight for Eisenhower's nomination as the Republican candidate, both before and during the GOP convention. He lost his Senate seat in the Nov. 4 election and is considered almost certain to be brought into Eisenhower's inner circle when the new government takes over.

There has been speculation he may play the role of special assistant to the new president, becoming Eisenhower's "Harry Hopkins."

Knowland's conference with the general probably will be concerned with organization of the Senate. He is considered a possibility for the post of Senate leader.

Eisenhower had a long talk late yesterday with Sinclair Weeks, chairman of the Republican party Finance Committee. Weeks told reporters there was no discussion of any cabinet posts.

Former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen came out of Eisenhower's office smiling but evasive about the subject of his conference with the general. He has been mentioned as a possible secretary of labor in the next cabinet.

Music Educators Pick Ruckman As President

LISBON—Kenneth Ruckman, instrumental music teacher for United, Knox and West Schools, was elected president of Columbiana County Music Educators Association at a meeting Thursday in the county board of Education office.

Richard Ralston of Salineville was elected vice president and Mrs. Sarah Rearick, vocal teacher for United, Knox and West Schools secretary-treasurer.

Miss Edith Keller of Columbus, Ohio School supervisor of music, spoke at the meeting.

MISSION BAND TO MEET

Junior Mission Band of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church will meet Saturday at 2 p.m. in the church. Linda Schuster will lead devotions, Karen Pauline and Lois Ann Ulrich will serve refreshments. Leaders are Mrs. Walter Linder and Mrs. Andy Kekel Jr.

Industry Has Three Charles E. Wilsons

NEW YORK (AP) — Just to put matters straight on industry's three Charles E. Wilsons—

1. Charles E(rwin) Wilson is the General Motors Corp. president who President-elect Eisenhower announced yesterday as his secretary of defense.

2. Charles E(dward) Wilson is the former president of the General Electric Company and former director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

3. Charles E(ben) Wilson retired last year as vice president of the Worthington Corp.

They are not related.

The 64-year-old Wilson has headed the vast automobile manufacturing concern since 1941.

Prior to that, he had served for 10 years as a vice president of the company and one year as the executive vice president.

A native of Minerva, O., Wilson was educated at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, and worked as an electrical engineer for the Westinghouse Electrical Mfg., Co., from 1909 until 1919.

He later was successively chief engineer, manager and president of the Delco Remy Co., before joining General Motors as vice president in 1929.

Byrnes Won't Accept Post In Government

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina says he would "under no circumstances accept any appointment" in the federal government.

Byrnes made the statement to a news conference yesterday in answer to reports he might get a cabinet post under Republican President - elect Eisenhower. Byrnes, a Democrat, was an Eisenhower supporter during the presidential campaign.

The governor said he had not been asked by Gen. Eisenhower to accept any cabinet appointment. He told the conference he planned to finish his four-year term as governor in accordance with a promise made to the people of South Carolina when he was elected.

Driver Fined $430 On Overload Charge

Joseph Geary, 37, of Beaver Falls, Pa., arrested by Salem State Highway Patrolmen Thursday on a charge of driving an overloaded truck, was fined $430 and costs by Mayor Harry M. Vincent.

William Lane, 18, of New Salem, Pa. was fined $20 and costs by Lisbon Justice of the Peace Felix Butch on a patrol charge of speeding.

COLLIDE IN LISBON

LISBON—Police reported no one was injured when a car driven by Charles Clark of Lisbon and a Douglas taxi operated by Albert Brandan collided Thursday night on E. Washington St.

delegation, mutual security administrator, head of the Federal security Agency, three members of the Council of Economic Advisers, and defense mobilization and economic stabilization directors—if those latter two agencies remain alive.

Most of those currently mentioned for major jobs were not preconvention supporters of Taft.

Names heard most often in speculation about the new secretary of the Treasury include Sinclair Weeks—Massachusetts Republican National Committeeman who advised Taft to quit the race before banker Robert Cutler and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Virginia Democrat who didn't support his party's presidential nominee.
